Peiping Frees 4 U.S. Airmen

Release of Fliers Brings Hope
11 Others Will Gain Freedom

(From AP and UP Dispatches)

TOKYO—Peiping radio said tonight a military tribunal of the Supreme Court had tried four American airmen and sentenced them to "immediate deportation."

LONG WAIT OVER

Families 'Thank God' Fliers Free

(From AP and UP)

"Thank God, I can hardly believe it. You don't know what this means."

Those were the words W. G. (Bud) Parks spoke in Omaha today when notified of the announcement in New Delhi that four American fliers would be released by the Chinese Reds.

His son, Lieut. Roland W. Parks, has been held by the Reds for two years, 8½ months. Asked what his wife was doing, Parks replied:

"She's sitting here. She's just saying her prayers. I'm so excited I don't know what to do. Roland's brother, Dick, is sitting here, too. He can hardly believe it."

Roland Cameron, father of Lt. Lyle Cameron, said at Lincoln, Neb., "We have a deep feeling of gratefulness" when told his son had been released by the Chinese Communists. "It's a wonderful thing when you have waited so long," he added. Cameron sat up answering telephone calls all night.

Mrs. Harold Fischer of Swea City, Iowa, said news of her son's release from captivity in Communist China is "The most wonderful news we've ever received."

The mother of Capt. Harold Fischer added "we've waited a long time for this."

Mrs. Edwin L. Heller, wife of one of the four fliers scheduled to be released by the Red Chinese, said today her thoughts were with the families of other imprisoned Americans.

A member of the family at Wynnewood, Pa., quoted her as saying when informed of the good news: "What can I say. I don't know what to say. I only hope that the other men get out. Just imagine how other families feel when only four men are released."

ST. HUBERT, Que. (CP) — "This is the day I've been waiting for," Sgt. Ldr. A. R. Andy Mackenzie of Montreal said today when told that four United States airmen imprisoned with him by the Chinese Reds are to be released.

The squadron leader, now based at the St. Hubert field near Montreal, said he expects the four, held with him at Mukden, "probably will be handed over in Hong Kong"—the place where Mackenzie was turned free by the Communists last fall.

Saanich Men Turn Up Safely At Cordova

Saanich police reported the pair came into Sidney Harbor at about 12:45 p.m. Details were lacking at press time.

Alberni Man Drowned

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — RCMP are continuing dragging operations in Bainbridge lake for the body of Gerald Felix Clouthier, 28, of Alberni, who drowned in a boating mishap Sunday.

'SERADA' WINS SWIFTSURE

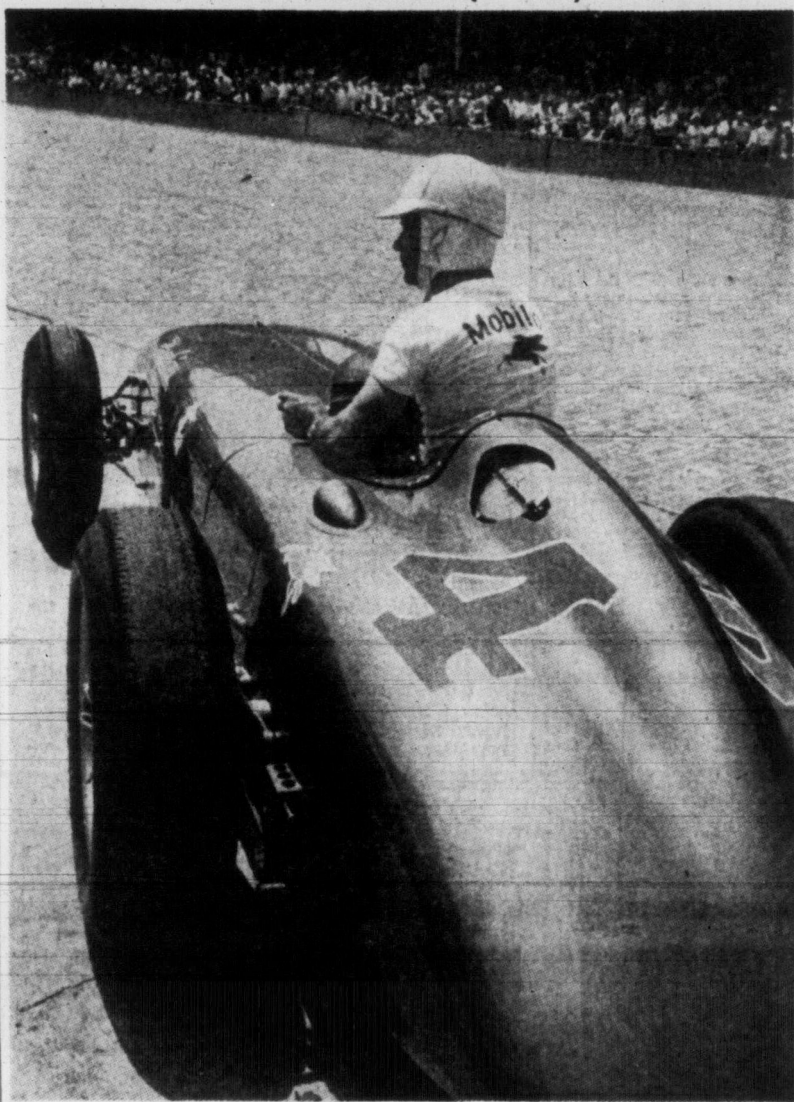

Seattle yachts took the first four places in the Swiftsure yacht classic on the week-end.

On the basis of handicap, the yachts were: first, Serada; second, Maruffa; third, Westward Ho, and fourth, Kate II.

Britain May Declare State of Emergency

Bill Vukovich Dies in Speedway Crash

SWEIKERT WINS AT INDIANAPOLIS

5-Car Crash Kills Vukovich In Memorial Day Classic

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP) — Bob Sweikert, who never before was in the money, roared to victory in his salmon-pink car today in the 39th renewal of the annual 500-mile speedway race.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP) — Bill Vukovich, winner of the 500-mile race for the past two years, was burned to death in a five-car pileup on the back stretch in today's race.

Other cars involved in the accident were driven by Ed Klisan, Rodger Ward, Johnny Boyd and Al Keller.

Vukovich was leading the race at a record speed when the accident occurred after 140 miles.

At the end of 300 miles Bob Sweikert was leading with Art Cross second.

Spectators reported that Klisan spun and rolled end over end. He hit the wall. Ward crashed into a bridge attempting to avoid him. Boyd, Keller and Vukovich crashed into the wreckage.

Ward and Boyd turned over. Vukovich's car also turned over and burned in mid-track. Attendees were unable to get through the flames to turn the car over and pull him out.

WORST SINCE 1939 — It was the worst pileup since 1939 when another former winner, Floyd Roberts, was killed in a three-car crash on the southeast turn, hardly 500 yards from today's accident.

The death was the first during the 500-mile race since 1947 when Shorty Cantlon was killed as his car hit a wall on the southwest turn.

A report from the speedway hospital said Keller was unhurt. Boyd and Ward had minor injuries but were not kept in the hospital, and Klisan was not hurt but was kept in the hospital because somebody gave him a "shot" of morphine en route to the hospital.

Two men in a safety patrol jeep were injured when one of the cars leaped a wall into the infield in the five-car pileup.

Threats Linked To West Coast Tree Licence

'Sign—or No Road' Campaign Alleged

Hired "contact men" threatened residents of the West Coast they would not get access roads unless they supported the B.C. Forest Products forest management licence, it was charged today.

Gordon Gibson, former Liberal MLA, was speaking before the Sloan Commission on forestry.

He told the commission the "contact men" carried printed forms, and got people to sign them by "threatening them" with unemployment, loss of a $25,000,000 pulp mill, and loss of access roads.

PRICE TO GREAT

Mr. Gibson said the people of the Island were told: "Agree with this, or you won't get roads."

He said BCFP proposed road-building "is not a lot of kindness coming out of their heart—they are doing it because they are getting a forest management licence."

Mr. Gibson said the promise of West Coast roads "was the sole reason the people didn't get up in arms." He called the logging company road proposal "a kind of payoff" for a forest management licence.

F. C. Munroe, counsel for BCFP, tried to get Mr. Gibson to agree that the licence would stabilize the employment of BCFP's present workers, create more jobs, and that such enterprises as their proposed $25,000,000 pulp mill at Crofton should be encouraged.

'AGREE—OR'

Mr. Gibson said such investment capital shouldn't be encouraged if it was to be at the cost of "the little man."

"It is too great a price for anything," he said.

Mr. Gibson said the firm couldn't create new jobs in the timber industry. He said they could "only take men who are now working in other jobs," for other timber firms.

"Isn't there a limit to the amount of timber this company wants?" the long-time foe of the forest management licence system asked at one point during the morning sitting of the commission.

Commenting on the "stabilization of employment" argument advanced by the BCFP counsel, Mr. Gibson said "You could go straight into socialism, put it all under one head—this would ensure a steady job if that's what you want."

"B.C. Forest Products is throwing in nothing, and the people of B.C. are throwing in the timber," Mr. Gibson said, when he was asked if he stood by his statement that timber in a forest licence is "given away."

"And there is no other part of the world where you can get it in perpetuity."

The Indian diplomat did not explain what he meant by an informal basis for negotiation between the two Chinese governments.

Menon declined to specify whether the Reds would meet the Nationalists in the presence of the United States. He said the Americans and Red Chinese were the main parties in the dispute and it was up to them to "say who were the others involved."

Eden Considers Drastic Steps In Rail Strike

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Anthony Eden's government today was reported considering the declaration of a state of emergency, to cope with the nation's crippling railway strike.

Informed sources said a request for a royal proclamation appeared "likely" if the chaos that is feared develops this week.

The proclamation, if issued, would grant Eden emergency powers to deal with the walkout.

(UP and AP Dispatches)

LONDON—A strike by 70,000 railroad men today threatened Britain with a return to wartime austerity.

The walkout by members of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen brought rail service almost to a standstill.

With the long Whitsun holiday week-end nearing an end, the full impact of the strike began to be felt—an impact threatening unemployment in factories counting on rail shipments for supplies.

Meanwhile, a wildcat dock strike continued to plague the government, tying up 196 ships in four big British ports. The 18,000 members of the National Amalgamated Stevedores and Dockers Union have defied their own leaders and refuse to return to work in a jurisdictional squabble with the bigger Transport and General Workers Union. The latter has 80,000 members.

The gravest industrial crisis since the general strike of 1926 confronted the nation with chaos as a walkout of 70,000 locomotive

'Country Will Break Before We Do'

A leader of the striking railwaymen declared defiantly: "The country will break before we break."

London's vast railroad stations looked like ghost-haunted halls. Skeleton train services were maintained on some regional lines, but the timetable was forgotten.

Eden was being kept informed of developments from Chequers, his official country home. He sent his labor minister, Sir Walter Monckton, back to London after consultations but there was no im-

Back-to-Work Call Flatly Rejected

Eden's call in an emergency Sunday broadcast got a flat rejection from Albert Halliworth, assistant general secretary of ASLEF, who declared: "We can and will hold out for at least three months."

Eden in his broadcast asserted his Conservative government, re-elected to another five-year term last week, will "do all we can to protect the nation from the worst effects of this strike."

The men quit Saturday midnight—in the first big rail walkout since the general strike of 1926—to back up demands for pay boosts giving a larger differential "over other train workers."

Emergency Food Stockpiles Set Up

Eden's government announced it had taken emergency steps to ensure food supplies and sufficient fuel for the public services. But authorities urged the public to conserve fuel, light, and power, to use available transport as little as possible, and to use postal, telegraph and telephone services "sparingly."

The government said ample food stocks are available throughout the country, explaining that most foods are transported by road. Plans also have been made to move essential foods usually carried by rail—such as milk for London.

The government warned that despite these precautions, it might have to impose severe restrictions on use of gas and electricity.

The government postal service said it would be able to accept only parcels for local delivery. The armed forces were asked to provide 250 trucks to carry mails.

As yet the government apparently has made no move for a general callout of troops, as was done in 1926.

London's nationally distributed newspapers cut the number of their pages by one-third to lighten editions for delivery.

ASLEF is demanding a raise of eight shillings a week over the present weekly basic pay of nine pounds, 15 shillings.

Eden said if the locomotive men got more money the railways would be confronted with an "endless succession" of pay raise demands by the rival NUR.

SOBBING CHILD 'SEES' HER IDOL

'Look the World in the Face' Helen Keller Tells Blind Girl

TOKYO (AP)—Gentle hands reached out to touch the face of the tiny five-year-old girl.

The child bowed her head. "Never bend your head," came the soft advice, "always hold it high. Look the world straight in the face."

Two of the world's blind had met in understanding—Helen Keller, who has spent all but 18 months of her 75 years in darkness, and Dorothy Ann Ciccoli, blind since birth.

Ever since Dorothy Ann was old enough to understand, her mother has held up Miss Keller as an ideal, mixing chapters from the life of the world famous deaf and blind lecturer, writer with fairy tales and Sunday school lessons.

Sunday Mrs. Ciccoli, wife of an army major from Battle Creek, Mich., took her daughter to a reception tea.

Unable to get through the crowd of 500, Mrs. Ciccoli started describing Miss Keller to the child.

"But mother," she sobbed softly, "I want to see Miss Keller."

Ivy G. Edmonds, 29, a reporter for the United States Army Stars and Stripes, heard the child. After working his way through to Miss Keller's life-long companion, Miss Polly Thompson, he whispered the child's wish.

Miss Keller insisted the crowd make room for the little girl.

Then she bent forward and gently touched the child's face.

The little girl reached upward, hesitated, then traced the worn, lined face with her fingertips. A brilliant smile replaced the tears.

The huge room, now silent, heard her whisper: "Mother, I saw her. I saw Helen Keller."

Seems y' git further in Britain these days runnin' fer Parliament than fer trains.

Pity them Strait swimmers can't carry sail, like th' Swiftsure fellers.

Modern ferry tale: Once upon a dock there wuz three hundred waitin' tourists. . .

MEETING IN BELGRADE—Russia's first secretary of the Communist party, Nikita S. Khrushchev (left) is greeted at Belgrade, Yugoslavia, by President Tito. Khrushchev was accompanied by Premier Nikolai Bulganin and other Russian officials. A Yugoslav foreign ministry spokesman said they would spend "five or six days" in conferences at which Russia is expected to try to swing Tito into a mid-European neutrality system.

Tito, Soviets Talk At Island Hideaway

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia—President Tito and his Soviet visitors escaped the publicity limelight today to thrust out the final declaration of their conference.

The Yugoslav president took Soviet Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and their party Sunday to the Adriatic island of Brioni, a favorite Tito vacation spot.

For the first time since the Russians arrived last Thursday, they got away from the camera barrage. The press was barred from the island. The party remained there until Tuesday, when the Russians leave for visits to Ljubljana and Zagreb, the capitals of Slovenia and Croatia.

PUT FINAL TOUCHES
Their chief task on the island was reported to be putting final touches to a declaration of principles to govern future relations between Moscow and the former satellite chief who broke with Stalin and the Cominform in 1948.

Borba, organ of the Yugoslav Communist party, predicted Sunday the document will provide for Tito's version of "active co-existence"—equality of all nations and states, respect for the independence, sovereignty and integrity of all countries, rights of all nations to defend themselves under the United Nations charter, non-interference in the internal affairs of other countries, condemnation of aggression and expansion, mutual respect among nations.

Secret Vote On Ford Plan Offered By UAW

Guaranteed Wage Keyed to Outcome

By F. GLENN ENGLE

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers (UAW) offered today to put to a vote of Ford Motor Company workers throughout the country whether they want a guaranteed annual wage or to accept the company's recent offer to let its workers purchase Ford stock.

The offer appeared to be a direct union challenge to a suggestion by company president Henry Ford II that rank and file Ford workers might want to accept Ford's "prosperity partnership plan."

An independent New York group, the Honest Ballot Association, would conduct a vote within the next two weeks under the union proposal.

SPECIAL SESSION HELD
If the 140,000 Ford workers voted for the Ford offer, the union would agree to put the company's proposals into a new contract.

If, on the other hand, the workers preferred the union's guaranteed annual wage plan, the company would have to put up 12 cents an hour per employee to finance the guaranteed wage plan. Ford officials immediately asked for and got a recess in the session until 2:30 p.m. today to give them time to study the union proposal. The union Sunday offered to cut by more than 10 per cent the amount the company would be required to pay a laid-off employee each week under its guaranteed annual-wage proposal.

Nelson Fire Caps Nine Years of Tragedy

From CP and BUP
NELSON, B.C.—Inquiry into the disastrous Strathcona hotel fire, which claimed the lives of six persons, opened today. Deputy fire marshal Basil Nixon of Vancouver is conducting the investigation with Nelson Fire Chief E. S. Owens and Dr. F. M. Auld, district coroner.

Meanwhile, General C. R. Stein, provincial co-ordinator of the B.C. Civil Defence association, announced rehabilitation plans were well taken care of by the local committee and he would remain in an advisory capacity.

Gen. Stein flew to Nelson from Victoria to help take care of the 45 survivors of the fire that levelled the 50-year-old hotel.

He will meet the committee today.

Accommodation, clothing and finance committees have been authorized to make essential expenditures for immediate assistance.

The Strathcona, in its earliest days was the setting for some of Nelson's elegant social events. It also was the scene of two previous fires and a murder.

One of the survivors of the fire said today the death of her 10-year-old son in the blaze was her last heartbreak "in nine years of tragedy."

Mrs. A. Symington, whose son, Rudolph, died in the blaze, had left the hotel, into which they had recently moved, to go on a family errand at the time of the fire.

Nine years ago, Mrs. Symington said, she was deserted by her husband but with the help of her mother, who was a school teacher, they managed to get by. Then an accident to her mother when a school window fell on her hand prevented her from teachings. They obtained government relief for a time but this was stopped because her mother had about $150 in the teachers' pension fund.

However, a stroke proved fatal to her mother and when J. S. Rae, her uncle at Procter, B.C., wrote asking her to come and live with him, she accepted.

Mrs. Symington and her two children moved to Procter but in February this year the Rae home was burned and they lost all their belongings. Then, she said, she moved to Nelson and found work.

News Read in Pulpit By Argentine Priests

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentine's Roman Catholic priests have started reading weekly news bulletins from their pulpits. They say it is the only way they can publicize the church stand in its current bitter fight with President Juan Peron's government.

The first bulletin, read at Sunday's services, exhorted Catholics: "Let nothing part us, neither calumny nor threats, neither life nor death."

Church sources said they had no other outlet for publication of church news. The leading Catholic newspaper, El Pueblo, has been closed down.

Press reports from Rosario, Argentina's second largest city, said Rev. Severino Gil has been arrested there for distributing pamphlets. He was the 59th priest jailed since Peron last November accused some members of the church of trying to undermine his regime.

Craigflower's 100th Birthday Party June 8

Centennial Celebration Honors
West's Oldest Standing School

A historical pageant, songs and folk dances will feature the centennial year celebration on June 8 of Craigflower school, the oldest standing schoolhouse in Canada west of the Great Lakes and now preserved as a museum.

The celebrations will be staged by the pupils and teaching staff of the new Craigflower school, across the road from the old wooden school completed in 1854. Every pupil will take part in the program under the direction of principal Malcolm Dunnet.

The event will be attended by educational, civic and provincial government officials. These will include W. N. Chant, minister of public works; Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich; W. P. Jeune, chairman of the Greater Victoria school board; and C. N. Chubb, manager of the Hudson's Bay Co.

PROFICIENCY PRIZES

John Gough, municipal inspector of schools, will present proficiency prizes to the pupils, while Alex Gray, president of the Craigflower P.T.A., will present the athletic awards.

Souvenir pins will also be given to two former teachers at the old Craigflower school, Mrs. Margaret N. McKilloch and Mrs. W. Harding.

Since Craigflower school was closed in the thirties, it has become a historical monument. It was built when Victoria was a colony with only a small population of fur traders, gold seekers and farmers.

PAGEANTRY

While the school was completed in September, 1854, the first school examination and inspection was held in 1855. There was considerable pageantry to mark the occasion. Governor James Douglas and Rev. E. Cridge, chaplain to the Hudson's Bay Co., attended the event.

Charles Clarke was the first teacher in the new schoolhouse and lived upstairs in the school. The school attendance at that time is not known, but there was a dormitory accommodation for pupils who lived as far as Lake Hill and Colwood.

The school attended by many native sons through the years, was finally closed in 1939.

M. D. Jarell, eminent Trichologist, demonstrates causes of baldness and how it can be prevented.

How To Have Hair For A Lifetime To Be Demonstrated Here By Famous Trichologist

Offers Written Guarantee
An exclusive interview by Ward Allen

LONDON, ONTARIO, (Special)—M. D. Jarell, Director of Jarell Hair Experts of Canada, exploded the "myth of baldness" today in an exclusive interview. "Baldness is unnecessary, costly and a plague to mankind," says Jarell. "No man need be bald. No man need suffer the stigma of premature old age that is forced upon him because he is losing his hair. The Jarell method of hair and scalp treatment can prevent baldness—can turn colorless fuzz into healthy, growing hair—can make you look youthful again."

Demonstration To Be Held in Victoria.

This revolutionary method of home treatment for the hair and scalp will be demonstrated in Victoria, British Columbia, Wednesday and Thursday ONLY, June 1 and June 2, at the Dominion Hotel. Trichologist Ray Johnson will conduct the private individual interviews from 12 noon until 9:00 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday ONLY. There is no cost or obligation, and you need no appointment.

Reason for Baldness

"There is always a reason for baldness," continued this nationally known authority. "Hair cannot grow through a scalp that is infected with dandruff, excessive oil, or extreme dryness. A scalp that has never been exercised cannot be expected to produce healthy hair." Men, and yes, women too, walk the streets today, completely devoid of nature's greatest ornament—hair. Simply because they were not taught the basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene while they were growing up. "The simple answer," emphasized this expert, "is that children should be taught the same simple basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene that they are taught for the proper care of their teeth. If this were the case, baldness would be a rarity today!"

Heredity Not Involved

Trichologist Jarell dodged no issues. He quickly took up the most widely spread theory of baldness—heredity. "Mankind's un-realistic belief that baldness is hereditary stems from a misinterpretation of the theory of genetics. Theory does not state that any person must be bald because baldness exists in the family. What it does say is that in some families, a tendency exists towards an under-nourished scalp. The purpose of Jarell Hair and Scalp Experts is to teach the methods of strengthening the weak scalp and nourishing it to a healthy, vigorous condition. A healthy scalp will grow hair, if it is not already completely bald," assures Jarell.

MP's Unlikely To Legislate Against Addicts

Hard to Prove,
Deputy Minister
Tells Committee

OTTAWA (CP)—F. P. Varcoe, deputy minister of justice, said today he doubts Parliament would pass a law making narcotic addiction an offence under the Criminal Code.

Mr. Varcoe made the statement as the committee questioned him on the possibility of establishing a federal institution for treatment of addicts.

EVIDENCE NEEDED

Mr. Varcoe said it would be possible to pass federal legislation to commit drug addicts serving penitentiary terms for other offences to such a treatment centre. It also would be possible to commit addicts serving jail terms under the Criminal Code.

However, Mr. Varcoe said he does not believe it would be possible to commit addicts who have been convicted of offences under provincial legislation. There also was no way of committing addicts not guilty of offences under the code.

Mr. Varcoe said the only way to prosecute known addicts not guilty of offences under the code is to make addiction itself an offence.

He doubted Parliament would pass such a law because of the difficulty of proving an individual to be an addict. It was not likely that Parliament would go so far as to use needle marks on an addict's body as proof that an individual is an addict.

Senator Nancy Hodges (Liberal, British Columbia) asked if addicts could be picked up and treated as if they were suffering from a disease.

Mr. Varcoe said such a move would have to be on a provincial basis unless Parliament could be persuaded that drug addiction is as serious as an epidemic of cholera and threatens national life.

Alan Dann Defeats Victoria's
Donald Anderson for Top Post

Alan Dann, 31, of Cloverdale, was elected president of the B.C.-Yukon Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Jaycees 19th annual regional convention here Saturday.

He defeated Donald Anderson of Victoria.

The three-day meeting attended by more than 350 Jaycees and their wives ended Saturday with election of officers, a banquet and a dance held at the Victoria Badminton Hall.

The 1956 convention will be held at Prince George.

Frank Wittner of Penticton was elected vice-president, and Frank Harris of Cloverdale, secretary.

The new officers were installed by national president, Monty Aldous at a banquet attended by about 500 Jaycees, wives and guests.

At the banquet L. G. Filippelli, retiring president of the region and Dennis O'Sullivan, his predecessor, were presented with Junior Chamber International seniorships—the equivalent of life memberships in the organization.

Mr. Norris has begun his study in the interior and will conduct hearings in Victoria and Vancouver later.

He has been engaged for this assignment by the B.C. Association of Real Estate Boards, which for a long time has been dissatisfied with the present act, the Real Estate Agents' Licensing Act, and has pressed for a completely new piece of legislation that would put real estate men on a more professional basis and give them the right to regulate their profession in much the same way as doctors, lawyers and pharmacists.

Mr. Norris was appointed as a one-man board of inquiry last year but due to other demands has only just been able to undertake the fact-finding work entailed. The government is aware of the inquiry and its purpose.

The Real Estate Board of Victoria intends to present a brief to Mr. Norris when he sits here and all real estate agents will be given an opportunity to express individual viewpoints as well.

The brief, it is understood, calls for more stringent licensing rules to guard against "slick" operations by salesmen. The B.C. Association of Real Estate Board represents about two-thirds of the licensed realtors in the province.

Not the World Series

THOUGHTFUL UNITED STATES analysts, for some years now, have been criticizing their state department for what they consider the abandonment of diplomatic process. They argue that the nation loses stature when it assumes a belligerent attitude, talks too loudly and brandishes a big stick only to retreat into mild admonition and finger-shaking when the decisions are reached.

This, they have remarked, has permitted Red China to describe the U.S. as a paper tiger.

These analysts are now observing a more encouraging trend and they are seeking to enlist public support for a policy which substitutes thought and study for hasty and ringing denunciations. They are reminding the people that despite the hard and fast lines that appeared to emerge from the cold war, there is reason to believe that nations not for them are not necessarily against them.

They are emphasizing the fact that neutrality between the East and West blocs is not automatically a supine position. And they are reminding Americans that in international negotiation great harm can result from an attitude which stamps actions taken by conferences either as victories or defeats for the United States.

David Landman, now spending a year in Indonesia under the sponsorship of the Ford Foundation, draws attention to this development in a New Republic article entitled "Nobody Won at Bandung."

He argues that the United States—which had no formal representation at that gathering—emerged from it in a better position than had been expected, but not because of United States action. The influences favorable to the U.S. were created by her friends there, and among neutrals who want no part whatever in the cold war but who regard highly the democratic principles for which the United States stands.

Mr. Landman points out that Bandung "was not the World Series with Pandit Nehru crouching behind home plate in the indignity of an umpire's mask. Any observer who talks about 'our side' or 'their side' should swap his typewriter for a case of Rheingold and go back to Ebbets Field."

This analysis by Mr. Landman is not new. It recalls the effort made early in the life of the United Nations when all decisions began to be interpreted either as victories or defeats for Russia or the United States.

The non-combative attitude seeks to remind those who listen to the argument that conferences are not all essentially battles. They are frequently efforts to produce a means by which peoples of different schools of thought can live together.

That is a point of view probably better understood by some western countries which emerged many years ago from isolationism and which appreciate the fact that difference in viewpoint is not necessarily grounds for a fight. From the mature position of greater experience, they are less concerned with who won or who lost than they are with what arrangements can be made to help all to get along together.

As Mr. Landman and others point out, international affairs are not the World Series, with strikeouts, put-outs, hits and runs the deciding factors. Nor does the East-West struggle automatically place all nations in the grandstands as rabid partisans of one side or the other.

Perhaps they might go a little further and suggest that if sports analogies are required to convey the meaning of conferences to the public, cricket would provide a better comparison. And if cricket phraseology is to be used, they might emphasize the likelihood of protracted matches that end in draws.

More Fish to the Spawning Ground

LAST YEAR COMMERCIAL fishermen made a heavy haul of Adams River sockeye. They harvested the crop in the confined waters between Cape Flattery and the mouth of the Fraser.

But though the actual catch was made in the sleeve of the ocean which flows around the south end of Vancouver Island, the run had its origin up the Fraser and along its tributary. It was available because of the fishways constructed to overcome the Hell's Gate obstruction which years ago depleted the Adams run.

Last week Mr. H. R. MacMillan officiated at the opening of the Stamp Falls fishway, and in years to come more salmon should be available because more will make their way up to the spawning grounds above the falls.

The fish thus helped will not build up a run like that of Adams River. But they will be, or they should be, more plentiful. And their importance will not be confined to commercial fishing. Experts at the Stamp Falls ceremony noted that in addition to sockeye, coho, spring and steelhead would be able to use the new means of by-passing the falls. Their progeny will be factors in the maintenance of sports fishing in the region—a matter of importance to the tourist industry as well as to recreation.

Stamp Falls improvements are encouraging for another reason. They show the alertness with which the federal department of fisheries is attending to the preservation of species on this coast. The practice is well established. Under a number of excellent ministers—Bridges, Mayhew, and now Sinclair—the government is continually studying means of protecting this food source—an industry which can be self-sustaining as long as man-made and natural hazards are overcome by good engineering.

In the national economy, the Stamp Falls fishway may be a relatively minor improvement. As an example of the determination to protect the raw material of the fishing industry, it is something infinitely more important.

Memorial on the Hill

VICTORIANS WILL COMMEND the plan to replace the aging flag pole at Beacon Hill with a new 156-foot stick which will serve as a memorial to the late Mr. Mayo Singh. The civic-spirited lumber of had donated the present pole city. The new one will be of Mr. Rajindri S. Mayo, president of the Mayo Lumber Company.

Mayo Singh's philanthropies were in no way limited to provision of the fine pole in the park. His gifts to local hospitals and other charities were numerous and substantial. He had a community consciousness, a sense of noblesse oblige that would have made him more outstanding had his good works not been accomplished in such a quiet and self-effacing way.

The plaque which will appear on the base of the new pole will serve to keep his memory fresh. This community will long appreciate the good citizenship which prompted Mayo Singh and which continues in his successors.

Fact and Fancy

SOME MONTHS AGO FORMER premier Byron Johnson set out in a series of articles carried in this newspaper the specific manner in which the Social Credit Government had utilized sinking funds and surpluses inherited from its predecessors to reduce British Columbia's debt.

The articles detailed the sources of the money and the amounts available when the present administration first took office. There was no mystery about the procedure. The funds were left there by the government which the people turned out and Mr. Bennett's administration used them. At the time Mr. Bennett apparently forgot to credit the earlier administration with collecting the funds—an understandable and politically valuable oversight on his part.

Oak Bay's Liberal member, a chartered accountant by profession, has again drawn attention to the source of these funds by which the Social Credit Government claims to have reduced B.C.'s debt.

Now Premier Bennett seeks again to suggest that the debt payments made out of funds left by the preceding administration owe nothing to the Johnson government. The suggestion won't wash.

Mr. Bennett asks "How stupid does Mr. Gibbs think the people of B.C. are?"

Mr. Gibbs, we believe, does not think the people of B.C. are stupid. The Oak Bay member bases his argument on the irrevocable facts of the balance sheet. The public will decide between factual evidence and the undocumented, airy charges of politics.

Moscow Mule

BY DAVID BROCK

TO my astonishment, I've learnt that there is a place in the Aleutians named Semisopotchnoi. I am glad it is only a semi-one. I could hardly hear the beauty of a whole one. Ever since I heard the word, it has been singing in my head. "Semisopotchnoi is ever so nice," and so on. How the name cropped up is this: a geological pal of mine wrote to say he was converting his geological work room into a geological reading room, a kind of study. "This requires so many new bookcases and shelves," the room became more of a carpenter shop than it has ever been, and that defies the purpose of the change. We still use the studio for everything, where there is music laid on, suited to all purposes. The geological room I guess is a geological library carpenter shop. I'll bet you there isn't another such room this side of Semisopotchnoi. The only reason I mention that name specifically is that I would love to have it as the address of my summer cottage. And it could easily contain just such a room as I have described."

SCHWARTZ ON NEWS-HAWKS

IF you don't read George Schwartz in The Sunday Times (London), you are denying yourself one of the few civilized pleasures remaining on this barbarous planet. . . this planet now in its second childhood. Yes, and you are not paying very strict attention to Wise Old Dave, who has been shoving Schwartz at you for years untold. (Five years, told.)

Here is a nice and highly typical sample from George Schwartz. He was objecting to the ridiculous and economically suicidal argument that the relative importance and dignity of jobs remains fixed for ever, so that if a baby-sitter now gets three times what she did in 1939, a cook should get three times as much too, or more. "It may be the radioactive fall-out from the atmosphere," says he, "but the whole country is being afflicted with an epidemic of back-to-the-relative-position-of-1939-itis. How this squares with the doctrine of egalitarianism defeats me, but suddenly, ten years after the end of the war, everyone has become aware that some other fellow has been taking unfair advantage of the passage of time to creep up on him."

HE mentions some gloomy item he heard on the radio about police sergeants in England now earning more than some journalists. He says that without submitting this as evidence of the breakdown of religion and civilization, he will deal with it objectively. "It must be conceded that the policeman has to be of good physique, presentable, and intelligent, and at the risk of fouling my own nest I must disclose that our standards are not so comprehensive." Which is very very nice indeed. I defy any newspaperman to read it without emotion, even if he himself is not any too healthy, presentable, and alert.

FULFILLMENT

J. B. MORTON once wrote a simple-hearted little song about a man in a little round wickerwork hat. A friend of mine took to this song as a lover takes to adjectives, and she treasured it up. I liked it too, but I hadn't known until she told me that men actually DO wear little round wickerwork hats at this particular epoch. She said one day I would see one for myself. And I said yes, in the fullness of time everything drifts in on my beach, and one day, if I was a good boy, Fate would wait on my shore a little round wickerwork hat.

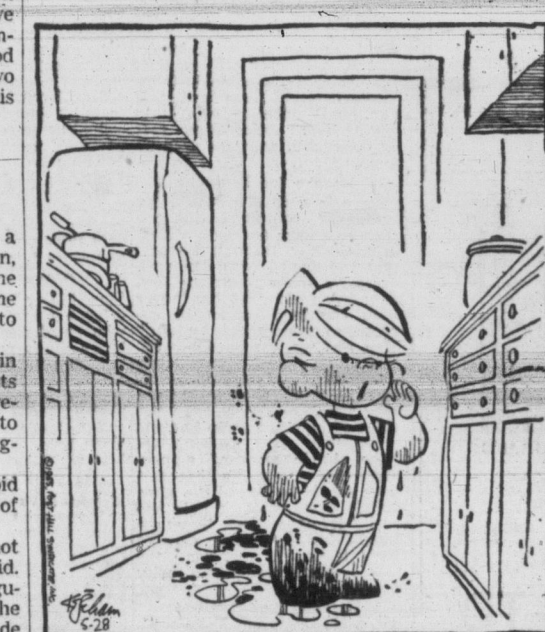

Well, I was a pretty good boy yesterday, and good old Fate decided I had stood about enough frustration and pain, so she not only sent me that little round wickerwork hat, but she went to any amount of trouble. Trouble both for herself and for the complete stranger who was wearing the l.r.w. hat. Yes, Fate shipwrecked that man right at my door. I'm not fooling. This is gospel truth. It happened last night.

SOME kids shoved the man's battered boat off the rocks into the surf, and we made fast to a spare mooring we had at the moment. And we somehow got the man, plus the kids who were now on board, back through the surf (and through the rocks) in our pathetic little round wickerwork dinghy. And we propped the man up in our kitchen to drain. Incidentally, he was wearing blue suede shoes. . . oh, he had been quite a dashing yachtman a few hours before, you could see that. . . and wherever he stepped he left pools of blue suede water.

The man took off some of his sudden garments before phoning his wife to explain he had been detained by Fate (my chum). And on our washing machine he laid what we hadn't noticed in the excitement. . . a veritable little round wickerwork hat. And in her goggle-eyed astonishment my wife cried out "Why, you've got a . . ." and then she stopped before she could say "little round wickerwork hat."

I DON'T know why she stopped. He wouldn't have guessed the whole story from that one startled cry. Who could, except Fate, and my wife and me and our friend who loved the song? Fate muffled only one item. She didn't have our friend here to see the whole incredible thing. . . the one person in the world who would appreciate the story most, and can now only read it here.

The Race in Space

BY STEWART ALSOP, From Washington

WITH a determined but not very expensive effort, it should be possible to launch an artificial satellite into space about this time next year. This, at least, is the contention of leading technicians in the missile field, who have submitted to the Pentagon plans for launching a man-made heavenly body in about twelve months. Until recently, it was thought that it would take at least two years to put a satellite into space. But recent technological breakthroughs in the missile art have made it possible—at least in the opinion of some qualified technicians—to halve this estimate.

Alsop

If the Pentagon approves the project, the object to be shot into space soon will not be much to look at. The plans call for an object only about nine inches in diameter, of the simplest and lightest possible construction. To save weight and bulk—which is of course important—the little thing will contain no instruments at all, other than a radar-response device to permit it to be tracked by radar on its journeyings around the globe.

NOT PERMANENT

The purists in such matters insist that the object will not be a true earth satellite, but rather an "orbital vehicle." The purists are right, in the sense that such an object will not remain forever in space, like the moon. Instead, it will spiral very gradually back towards earth, after some weeks or months of circling the globe, and when it reaches the denser atmosphere close to earth, it will disintegrate.

Obviously, the tiny thing will have no immediate military application whatever. For this reason, a debate has been going on in the Defense Department, about whether or not it is worth going ahead with the satellite project. Aside from the prejudices against "frills" held by the supposedly hard-headed businessmen who now run the Pentagon, there are serious arguments against going ahead with the satellite project. Although some of the specialists in the art believe that a simple satellite or orbital vehicle can be launched into space for as little as $20 million, others strongly disagree. The more skeptical technicians point out that there are many unknown factors remaining, and they have estimated the cost as high as half a billion dollars or even more, and the time in several years.

The most serious argument against the satellite project is that it might divert funds, facilities, and talents from other missiles—above all from the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile, the grand prize of the missile race. The technicians who favor the satellite project argue on the contrary that the satellite can be achieved without any sacrifice of time in the missile race, that the satellite is in fact a kind of free dividend of the efforts to create an I.B.M.

But the most cogent pro-satellite argument can best be understood in terms of a couple of headlines: Soviets Claim Successful Launching of Earth Satellite, and U.S. Radar Confirms Existence of Soviet Satellite.

Two facts suggest that these headlines are not as fanciful as they may be supposed.

First, the possibility that the Soviets will launch a satellite is taken so seriously that a satellite-detection project has been established at White Sands, New Mexico, and at Mount Wilson, California. A tremendous flap was caused not long ago in the Pentagon when the project identified not one, but two satellites. It turned out that both were natural satellites, never before detected.

Second, the Russians in April announced with a flourish the creation of a "permanent inter-departmental commission for interplanetary communication." Russia's greatest scientist, Peter Kapitsa, was appointed to the commission. Its first task was announced as "the organization of an automatic laboratory of scientific research in cosmic space . . . which would, over a long period, revolve around the earth as a satellite, beyond the limits of the atmosphere."

This bland announcement also caused much dismay, at least among the more sensible men in the Pentagon. For this kind of before-the-fact boasting by the Soviets must be taken very seriously indeed, as the Pentagon has learned to its sorrow, conspicuously in the case of the atomic and hydrogen bombs.

MILITARILY VALUELESS

Those who oppose the satellite project argue that it would not matter very much if the Russians did get the first satellite into space—it would presumably be as militarily valueless as the proposed American device.

But, as one pro-satellite official put it—"We wouldn't really know it that it was up there."

The first satellite will certainly be the forerunner of satellites, with enormous military value in reconnaissance, missile guidance, and other fields. Moreover, it does not require much imagination to foresee the impression that a successful Soviet satellite-launching would make on the world.

To knowledgeable men in every foreign office and military establishment, it would mean just one thing—that the Soviet military technicians had gained a commanding lead over their American opposite numbers, in the race for the ultimate weapon. Copyright, 1955, N.Y. Herald Tribune Inc.

Mr. Finlayson and the East

By PATRICK NICHOLSON, in The Vancouver Herald

OTTAWA—Why blame Deane Finlayson only?

That is the question which Ottawa is asking in the wake of the stormy and dictatorially-run meeting of the executive of the National Progressive Conservative Association just held in Ottawa.

The first notable point about this meeting was that it was very poorly attended, especially from the restive west-of-the-lakes region. Everyone can, and probably has drawn the obvious conclusion from this.

The next interesting point was that everyone knew it would be a stormy meeting, with the B.C. delegation calling for a national convention to draw up a policy, and to confirm or replace the leader. The Drew faction moved in for the kill before this motion could be launched. This clique accused Finlayson of attacking Drew; of making "unfounded charges designed to destroy the confidence of the people of Canada in the leader of the party."

One might ask "What people? What confidence? Remember those twelve million Canadians in 1953?" Finlayson was also accused of threatening to run true-blue Tory candidates against the true-Drew Tories in the next election.

As the duly elected leader of the Conservative Association in B.C., Finlayson is automatically a member of the national executive. Yet he was thrown out of its meeting here, because he had dared to criticize his national leader. Thus all the Conservatives of B.C. were not merely disfranchised, but also themselves by proxy evicted. In this way, dictatorship usurped democracy within the very heart of the Conservative Party.

The explanation of the struggle probably lies in the alleged saw-off between the True-Drew Tories and the Soresds under which they would both agree to leave the federal field to the former and the provincial field to the latter, in elections.

B.C. has performed the unwelcome duty of belling the cat.

Now it seems to me that Finlayson and what he stands for conservatively are likely to be around much longer than the personalities and practices of those who tried to wring his neck in Ottawa.

Kulaks—The Unsung Heroes

There was something new in the tone and the contents of the letters from behind the Iron Curtain lately—especially from East Germany—which seemed to foreshadow the improvement in Soviet diplomacy.

In the past it has been necessary to compute the state of the social-economic situation in countries like Czechoslovakia from the cautiously given figures of the weekly pay and the price of, say, butter and eggs. An elderly bourgeois couple, for instance, mentioned their hourly rate of pay and the cost of an urgently needed winter overcoat as a dream that will never come true, even if their diet remained at the usual bread and potato fare.

There is no need to read between the lines any more; some of the letters from behind the curtain now reveal in plain language that there was suffering last winter from hunger and cold, that there is a shortage of wood and coal, teenage children coming home from work with frozen feet. These must surely be the audible stresses and strains of a collectivized economy before its breakdown.

The policy of the Yalta pact which ordained that the German standard of life should be reduced to the level of the Russian, seems to be quite successful. So successful in fact that thousands of farmers from East Germany are leaving their homes and farms, which had been owned and operated by their families for centuries, seeking refuge in Adenauer's West Germany, there to join the ten million expelles who came before.

The most surprising thing in the Yalta proceedings is that not one of the "Big Three," not even Stalin, proposed to raise the standard of life in Russia to that of prewar Germany. The spirit of the jailer seemed to predominate over that of the reformer.

Equally surprising—ludicrous may be the proper word—is the present diplomatic deadlock between the U.S.A. and Russia, unable to agree as to whether a dozen Russian delegates should be fingerprinted or not, before starting their research into the Iowan corn and hog industry.

Even if those Russians are stigmatized with rings through their noses, their impact on the Soviet hog and corn industry will be negligible. They cannot resurrect the millions of Kulaks, who were expert Russian farmers who knew how to grow corn and raise hogs as well as any Iowan. They were liquidated by Stalin because they refused to be slaves and wanted to raise the hogs and grow the corn as free men, just the way they do in Iowa.

The reason why our capitalistic consciences never felt a twinge at the time was simply because the Russians were neither traders nor military rivals.

Not the diplomats, but the millions of dead Kulaks, are the unsung heroes in the fight for freedom; the East German farmer, leaving the inheritance of centuries behind him, trekking towards the West and freedom.

To a peasant inhabiting one of the hot, steaming mountain valleys of Nepal twenty years ago the sight of a European mountaineer would have seemed as remote as a Sabre jet to a Stone Age man. Belgian Spinsters, Bachelors Attempt to Find Life Mates

Two thousand lonely bachelors and spinsters today for a walk through a wooded "tunnel of love." The couples were among thousands of bachelors and spinsters pouring into three small towns near Mons for traditional "matrimonial teas" today.

The day's program starts with processions through the towns and ends with a grand ball. There is plenty of opportunity to find a lifelong mate. Bachelors of nearby Ronquiere have invited every spinster in Belgium to their tea. A few miles away at Trazegnies the system is being tried in reverse—spinsters there are trying to lure as many single men to their town as they can.

Diem Forces Hoa Hao Army Into Retreat

Regime's Aims Given Newsmen

SAIGON, Indo-China (UP)—Rebel Hoa Hao troops were reported retreating into the Mekong River marshlands north of Saigon today under a heavy attack launched 48 hours ago by forces of American-backed Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

Front reports said heavy fighting was in progress throughout the Mekong River rice bowl in driving rainstorms. Meanwhile, South Viet Nam's revolutionary council outlined its aims at a press conference. The council formerly was the "revolutionary committee."

The council's aims included:
1. Adherence to the Southeast Asia Defence Organization.
2. Regrouping of French expeditionary forces along the 17th parallel bordering the Communist North while awaiting their withdrawal from Viet Nam.
3. Nationalization of heavy industry for national defence needs.
4. Freeing of Vietnamese currency from the franc area.

U.S. APPROVAL
All Vietnamese newspapers played up U.S. Ambassador George F. Reinhardt's statement when he presented his credentials to Diem.

One newspaper commented that the United States does not recognize the self-exiled Bao Dai as chief of state any longer since Reinhardt reportedly said that "I have the honor to present my credentials to the head of state" when he spoke to Diem.

The newspaper said the United States therefore tacitly recognizes the position taken by the revolutionary council which has disavowed Bao Dai as chief of state.

Mother, 4 Tots Found Dead in Montana Coulee

GERALDINE, Mont. (AP)—A 23-year-old mother and her four children, ranging in age from nine months to five years, were found dead in a coulee near this central Montana community Sunday.

Discovery of their bodies climaxed a grim search by more than 100 men by airplane, horseback and on foot. Sheriff Jack Bradley of Choteau county said he believes the five died of exposure.

Dead are Mrs. Alice Phillips and her four children—Mary, 4, Cary, 3, Clifford, 18 months, and William, 5 months. Bradley placed their death at Thursday night during a heavy rainstorm about seven miles from their home near the Missouri river.

HON. GEORGE DREW ... to Ont. Hydro?

NEW NATIONAL TORY LEADER?

Frost Will Replace Drew Says Ont. Liberal Chief

WELLESLEY, Ont. (BUP)—Ontario Liberal leader Farquhar Oliver believes "plans are already made" for Premier Leslie Frost to replace George Drew as national leader of the Progressive Conservative party.

Oliver told a rally Saturday night that if Frost's provincial government is returned to power in Ontario's June 9 election, Frost will start getting ready to go to Ottawa. Drew took a similar step after leading the Conservatives to victory in Ontario in 1948. Oliver said Drew, after being replaced by Frost, will return to Ontario to run the hydro-electric power commission.

"And that will be too bad for hydro," Oliver said. "Drew has had his fingers in that organization long enough." The Liberal leader challenged Frost to make a "frank statement" about his future plans before the election.

"It is my belief," he said, "that Mr. Frost has no intention, even if he is re-elected, of remaining as premier of this province for the full length of the parliamentary term."

'Tis Lucky There's Only Six of Them

HAMPTON COURT, England (AP)—Neil Dronfield, 8, fell off a bridge into the Thames River Sunday.

Frank Willingale dived in to save the child, then began to flounder himself. Mrs. Willingale went in to save her husband.

In the excitement the four Willingale children, ranging in age from 2 to 7, fell in after their parents.

Along came a stranger who calmly pulled all seven out of the water.

KEMPTVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Four persons died here early Sunday when fire swept through the Finnelly block, largest building in this Ottawa valley town.

The dead are Oswald Taylor, 37, garage mechanic; his wife, Mildred, 31; their six-year-old son, Richard, and a neighbor, Bower Thompson, 28. Eleven other persons, including five children, escaped.

WEATHER DAMPENS WEEK-END SPORT

Wind and rain had their innings in Victoria over the week-end, forcing postponement of most outdoor sports scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

Sunday, all baseball and softball contests were called off.

Saturday night, stock car racing at Western Speedway was washed out, as was the senior baseball game at Athletic Park.

Outdoor activity tonight, weather permitting, will see a previously postponed senior "A" softball game between Arrows and Victoria City to be played at Central Park, along with senior "B" softball at Heywood Avenue Park and minor baseball and lacrosse games. (See sports menu for details.)

Huddersfield Scores Double Soccer Win

CALGARY (CP) — Huddersfield Town, touring soccer team from England, defeated Alberta All-Stars, 4-1 Sunday in an exhibition game which attracted a crowd of 7,000. It was their second win in two days.

The visitors scored their first goal after one minute of play and led 2-0 at the half. Huddersfield, playing their third game in five days, used many reserves including amateurs Jack Conner and Bob Parker.

On Saturday Huddersfield defeated B.C. All-Stars 4-1 at Vancouver.

Conner scored twice, at the one-minute and 75-minute marks. Brian Frear got a goal at the six-minute mark and Cavanagh made it 4-0 at 85 minutes.

Jimmy Jack saved the All-Stars from a whitewashing with two minutes left.

At Vancouver play was rugged and after the game Huddersfield directors D. Parker and J. H. Traynor complained that the all-star team had used questionable tactics.

They said "This style of game is against the spirit of the idea of British soccer teams visiting Canada."

The only player seen to be injured was Les Queested, Huddersfield's captain, who collided with his own fullback—big Brian Gibson—as both leapt in the air for a high ball. Queested was able to resume.

Vancouver's lone goal came 37 minutes from the start of the game on a penalty kick by Gordon Iton.

Centre forward Jimmy Glazard scored Huddersfield's first three goals, while the fourth went to inside left Tommy Cavanagh.

Scotland Defeated

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungary's powerful soccer team came down from behind with three goals in the second half to defeat Scotland 3-1 Sunday in the Peoples' Stadium.

Led by Tom Wyatt with five goals, undefeated Esquimalt won its fifth straight game in the Bantam Lacrosse League on Saturday by defeating Oak Bay, 9-2 at Stevenson Park.

In another bantam contest, Saanich won its fourth straight, trimming Fernwood, 6-3. In the pee wee division, Saanich again triumphed over Fernwood, this time 8-6.

An exhibition pee wee game will be played at Memorial Arena tonight at 7, as a preliminary to the inter-city game between Shamrocks and New Westminster.

Line-ups follow:
Saanich—B. Forbes, W. Prentice, J. Hansen, K. Piercey, L. Johnson, J. Seale, Bill Munro, A. Tait, T. Black, M. Haddel, R. Beech, W. Rummy, J. Lawrence.

Stanky Fired

'The Hat' Replaces 'The Brat'

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Eddie "the Brat" Stanky was fired as St. Louis Cardinal manager Saturday and replaced by Harry "the Hat" Walker, manager of the club's Rochester farm team since 1952 and a former Cardinal outfielder.

August A. Busch Jr., brewery owner and club president, said Walker was signed for the rest of the 1955 season.

No salary terms for Walker were disclosed and Busch said "We will discuss his future after this season is over."

Stanky said he would remain in baseball "If I have to go to a class D league."

Busch announced that Stanky is still a member of the Cardinal organization but his next assignment hasn't been determined.

Nashua Sets Track Record, In Narrow Preakness Win

BALTIMORE (AP) — Figurative speaking, jockey Eddie Arcaro says Nashua "should last forever."

But, at the rate he's going, it's not going to take nearly that long for him to become the second $1,000,000 horse in history.

Barely past the age of three, Nashua has earned William Woodward Jr. $369,990 already and he's built both physically and temperamentally to clean up at least twice that much before he's through with racing.

The $67,550 he won by winning about $100,000 ahead of Citation's earnings rate at that time in 1948. Citation went on to become the only winner so far of $1,000,000.

Nashua's next big pot is the Belmont stakes June 11 and no possible opponent in that 1½-mile race looks good enough to beat him. Swaps, the Kentucky Derby winner and only one to whip Nashua in six races this year, isn't eligible.

Swaps wasn't in the Preakness either and only Saratoga of the seven other starters gave Nashua any trouble. Saratoga made Nashua, who insists perhaps sensibly on running only enough to win, break his first track record.

Nashua's time of 1:54 3/5 for the 1 3/16 miles was 1 1/5 seconds faster than the old Pimlico record set by Tom Fool in the Pimlico Special of 1953. Citation, who also was inclined to be content with just getting the job done, won his Preakness Stakes in the slowest time of all, 2:02 2/5.

Nashua Saturday looked for seconds like he might be the runner-

CANADIAN SIGNED
MILWAUKEE (AP) — John Matta of Windsor, Ont., a 20-year-old left-handed pitcher now attending Assumption College at Windsor, has been signed to a Milwaukee Braves contract, general manager John Quinn announced Saturday.

Matta, who stands 5 feet 11 and weighs 178, will join the Braves' Northern League farm club.

up. It wasn't until the final 16th that Arcaro got Nashua a length in front of Montpelier Stable's Saratoga. Traffic Judge was third, another seven lengths back.

Nashua paid $2.80 to win and only the guaranteed minimum of $2.20 for second and third. As more money was put on him third than first Pimlico had to use $27,576 of its own money to pay off the show bettors.

Sandy, Raised Beds Fine For Many Alpine Plants

Without the facilities of a rock garden, there are still a number of alpine plants which may be grown as edgings on sunny borders, or in sandy, raised beds.

There is an elegance to these plants which never fails to charm the gardener, and their beauty is remembered and eagerly awaited each succeeding year. Commencing to flower with us now are two of the shrubby penstemons, which trail along the edge of a raised bed and produce masses of bloom.

Hilda

A number of these shrubby penstemons native to northwest America, have been collected and are available through local nurseries specializing in alpines.

Another delight is Oxalis adenophylla which opens on sunny days large goblet-shaped flowers of creamy-pink with maroon centres. These arise on one inch stems from the crinkled grey, fan-like leaves, which are themselves as fascinating as the blossoms.

Just finished displaying the bluest of blue goblets is Gentiana acaulis, enjoying gravelly soil with good loam added. These flowers never fail to attract attention, on account of their size and color.

A few years ago, there seemed to be no hope of my being able to grow any of these alpine plants, for our soil is a heavy clay loam. Rich in plant foods and yes, but spelling extermination to all plants which demand sharp drainage during winter. However, with the advent of the raised border, I found that individual conditions may be created. Using the drained edge for these few alpine, and giving them the mixture of grit and rich soil they need, has brought successful growth to the plants and much pleasure to us all.

'Vim, Obvious Enjoyment' Shown By Capable Peninsula Players

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON
A visit to Sidney the other night was productive of a grand evening's entertainment by the Peninsula Players, all done with vim and obvious enjoyment on pocket handkerchief sized stage at North Saanich High School.

Two comedies and a murder-melodrama were the fare, served up by an enthusiastic group of actors, directors and stage crew. On behalf of the last-named, he said that intervals between the three plays were gratifyingly short and that there seemed to be no technical hitches.

FRESH TWIST
"Sunshine on the Righteous" gave a rather fresh twist to the marriage proposal theme, was amusing and well directed by Muriel E. Smith.

Quite outstanding in the cast of three was A. F. C. Watts, who would grace any theatre group as a character actor. Nell Horth was natural and pleasing as the woman in the case.

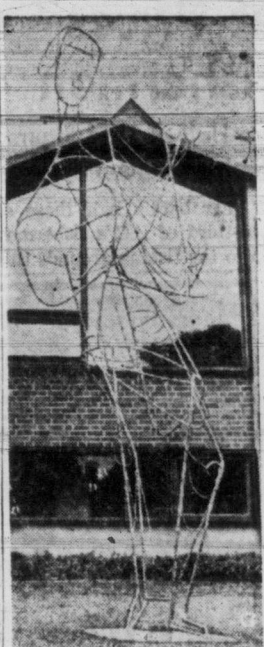

The melodrama, "Blunder," a more difficult play to carry off successfully, was directed by Jane Leigh. Mollie Buckingham cleverly conveyed the impression of a hard, narrow and selfish woman and Joan Hendrickson was quite capable in by far the most difficult part of the evening, "Festival Day," directed by Lesley Allen, was a delightful little comedy, presented with amazing competence considering the size of the stage and number of players involved.

TIP TOP
A fine degree of competence was general among the cast but tip-top characterizations were given by Ailsa Rothery and Joe Lunn, who were almost too good for the scope of the play; John Collings, and John Gray. Eva Byford, Jean Christie and Doris Scott also gave spirited, well-projected and timed performances, and Jennifer Williams was both decorative and charming.

Archbishop Praises Massed Choristers

Anglican Choir Concert Said 'Inspired, Unforgettable'

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Initiation of something that could become of major musical importance in the city was heard at Christ Church Cathedral Saturday night, when approximately 300 choristers, representing 15 Anglican churches on Vancouver Island, participated in a massed-choral concert under direction of Graham Steed, organist and choir master of the Cathedral.

Almost every seat in the cathedral was filled to hear the program of fine liturgical music, consisting of hymns, psalms and anthems.

As a prelude to the concert, Charles Palmer presented a quarter-hour program of organ pieces chosen from the works of Bach and Handel.

It was a moving experience to hear that richly textured body of sound fill the vaulted spaces of the cathedral with music having a spiritual appeal as well as an emotional appeal.

And it made one realize too, that while some of the finest and most inspiring music has been written for the church, it is heard—in a general way—altogether too infrequently under such highly favorable circumstances.

For while most churches in the Greater Victoria area have splendid music programs, what can equal the effectiveness of a concourse of choirs in a great church, masterfully directed, and supported by the sonorous intoning of a pipe organ? The choir gain much through the sharing of such a musical experience, the congregation also.

If such a choral festival as this could come to be a tradition in this city, it would be a genuine enrichment, not alone as an act of faith, but as a contribution to the expansion of musical thought, understanding and enjoyment within the city.

Montreal Czar Controls Dope In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Sun quoted police officials Saturday as saying that a former Montreal narcotics king-pin has apparently taken over Vancouver's illicit trade despite constant surveillance.

The newspaper, which described the man as a "burly master of underworld intrigue," says he has displaced the local drug king and has assumed complete control over the supply and distribution of narcotics here.

The man was found to have up to $1,600 in his possession when checked by police on several occasions since his arrival here.

The paper says police are "frankly worried" about possible reprisals by the deposed drug czar, since the market is "too lucrative to give up without a fight."

It is reported, the paper adds, that the new drug king may soon boost the price of heroin capsules from $5 to $7.

"He has six 'pushers' working for him," the paper says, and "His volume of 500 to 1,000 capsules a day has completely pushed the small addict-pusher out of the trade."

PHYSICAL JERKS AT 99

Oldest Living FRCS Enjoys Perfect Health

DUNCAN—Dr. W. M. Buckell, Cowichan Station, is a man of many distinctions.

First, he is 99 years of age and in excellent health. He proved his ability to friends at a birthday gathering last week when he went through his regular program of "physical jerks."

Son of a physician, he is the oldest Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons.

His memory reaches back to 1858, when he recalls having been shown the Donati Comet by his nurse.

Finally, he confounded the experts by learning to read Braille at the age of 88, when his eyesight gave out.

STUDIED IN LONDON

Dr. Buckell was born in Ramsey, England, in 1856, and took his surgery degree from Christ's Church Hospital, London.

The onset of lumbago years ago started him on his 20-minute program of exercises, and he has not been bothered by it since.

He gave up drinking and smoking while in his 50s, but now has the odd glass of wine on holidays.

Dr. Buckell retired to Salmon Arm in 1913, after many years of practice in Cheltenham, to become a fruit farmer. When he became blind he moved to Cowichan Station, where he enjoys a daily walk, and reading of everything from murder mysteries to scientific essays in Braille.

Living with him are his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. Atkinson.

Ladysmith Sports Grounds Project Nears Completion

LADYSMITH—The city's share of development work on the Market Square grounds will soon be completed. Ald. P. R. Battle, chairman of the works committee, has reported to city council.

The concrete retaining wall is now finished and next week fill will be hauled to level up the field, he said.

Cost of the project will be in excess of $3,000. R. S. Wood, city clerk, reported. Referring to a works committee report he said that 432 sacks of cement, 40 loads of rock and 26 loads of gravel have been used in building the retaining wall.

Ald. A. T. Verchere complimented the works department on the excellent appearance of the new wall. "The field looks a lot different than it did in 1918 when we first started picking rocks from it," he said.

CHANGE IN GRADE

A report of a special meeting at which Mrs. L. Gauld was appointed general office clerk, was received by the council. Mrs. Gauld's application was one of six received by the city.

In a letter to the council, O. J. Wilkie, chief construction engineer for the department of public works, gave assurance that the department will remedy the situation created by the change in the highway grade at White Street, with costs to be charged to the highway project.

Mr. Wood reported that payments from residents of the Bayview area are barely covering the cost of the street lighting service in that area. If the revenues should drop to the point where they would not cover the cost, the city would have to give the residents 30 days' notice that the service would be discontinued, he said.

Mt. Brenton Course Scene of Field Day

CHEMAINUS—Despite inclement weather, golfers from all parts of the mid-Island gathered at the Mount Brenton course for the second annual field day events.

Winners in the various events were: Ladies' low net, Mrs. L. Hagg; low gross, Betty Motherwell; least number of putts, Mrs. S. Clement; tombstone competition winner, Mrs. H. McKinnon; men's low score, Gary Urton; low gross, Jack Ross won draw on tie with Wilf Turner; least number of putts, Bob Stratton; closest to hole on No. 3, Art Anthony.

The hole-in-one and putting competitions will be held at a later date.

Low Halibut Prices Hurt B.C. Fishermen

With halibut prices this year barely half those of this time in 1954, at least one-third of B.C.'s fishermen refused to make a second trip to the fishing grounds this season.

The season opened May 12, and will close June 5.

Last year the average price to fishermen was 17 cents per pound. Vancouver prices are eight to 10 cents, Prince Rupert is 1½ cents lower, and west coast buyers are offering only from six to eight cents.

Due to efforts of the International Pacific Halibut Commission, a bumper catch was enjoyed last year after several years of poor fishing. Because of the present prices, it is doubted whether quotas will be filled this year, and fishermen expect a hungry and higher-priced market next year.

The fleet normally consists of 200 boats of from three to eight men each, and average catch is 25,000,000 pounds. Each boat usually makes four trips to the fishing grounds.

Next season will be from July 27 to August 3.

Water System Shows Progress

CHEMAINUS—A. R. Colby, consulting engineer, has reported that contractors are making good progress on the installation of the new Chemainus waterworks system.

All steel pipe and bends of both 12 and 20-inch size have been delivered. Transit pipe and fittings are expected to arrive shortly.

Some 12-inch pipe has been laid along the Trans-Canada Highway. The Henry Road section from the chlorinator to the Island Highway is near completion. Clearing is going ahead rapidly at the Banon Creek intake reservoir.

Rock encountered on the Trans-Canada Highway has slowed work somewhat, but Mr. Colby expects the job to be completed on schedule.

LANGFORD—Langford merchants wishing to enter a display at the annual Langford Community Club fair are invited to the meeting of the fair committee in the community hall June 7 at 8 p.m.

First Aiders Score 4 Wins Up-Island

The 10 Victoria teams that competed Saturday in Cumberland's 41st annual first aid field day won four first prizes and three seconds. Dr. W. W. Bell, leader of the party, said today.

In the group were junior boys and girls, senior men and women, and Crusaders in the 16-18-year age class, all from Victoria centre, St. John Ambulance Association.

The party traveled in two buses, one of which was provided by HMC Dockyard to carry its own personnel taking part in the meet.

On Saturday the Victoria centre will stage its 12th annual field day in the lower ballroom at the Crystal Garden. There will be 12 events starting at 1 p.m., and 50 teams are expected to enter.

Texada-Westview Ferry Operating

WESTVIEW (CP)—Inauguration of a daily ferry service from Texada Island to Westview began Saturday with the motor vessel Atravida berthing here promptly at 11:15 a.m. after its trip from Vananda.

A full complement of passengers and cars were aboard the vessel skippered by Capt. James Calderwood. Regular service began today and company officials said there would be 20 round trips weekly, with special charter trips available.

Sea Cadet Corps Inspection Held In Chemainus

CHEMAINUS—Despite inclement weather, the annual inspection of local Sea Cadet Corps, RCSCC Admiral Malmguy, went off well. Cmdr. M. Beardmore, RCN, told cadets following the inspection and training exercises.

The corps, complete with guard and the smart bugle band from RCSCC Cougar, Shawnigan Lake School, was inspected in the ball park by Cmdr. Beardmore and Lieut. Cmdr. D. H. Tye, RCN, sea cadet area officer.

Following the inspection and march past, units of the corps staged a series of training exercises, including rifle drill and shooting, and held classes in navigation, lead and line, communications, and shearlegs.

A special crew in the corps whaler gave the salute as they sailed past the government wharf.

Halibut Boat Taken in Tow

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP)—The U.S. halibut boat Lansing was towed to Rock Bay in Johnstone Strait Sunday after going aground at low tide in the strait.

The 50-foot vessel was towed to Rock Bay by the Home Oil boat Dynamic, which was directed to the scene by the RCAF Air-Sea Rescue unit in Vancouver following an alert by the U.S. Coast Guard at Seattle.

It was not immediately known how many men were aboard the Lansing or extent of damage.

First Aid Meeting Opened to Public

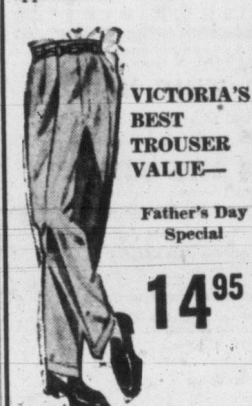

CHEMAINUS—R. J. Duncan, president of the St. John Ambulance Association here, and a group of sea cadets, demonstrated fundamentals of artificial respiration at a public meeting here.

Andrew Bennett, first aid instructor, said the association was working toward reduction of accidents in the home, and that knowledge of first aid was a step in this direction. He said more than 700 people in Chemainus had first aid training, and that classes averaged 50 students per year.

Sickness 'Pays Off' for Duncan Nurse

DUNCAN—A book written by Mrs. J. Osinger, nurse at King's Daughters' Hospital, will be published June 16.

Titled "Lamp in the Wilderness," it is an account of her experiences in 1949 and 1950 in a small Red Cross hospital in an isolated district of the Cariboo, where she and a housekeeper were the only staff members.

With her was her four-year-old daughter, Judy.

Mrs. Osinger has been writing since her teens, and completed the book during a year that she suffered poor health and was ordered to bed. She rewrote it five times before she felt it was ready for a publisher.

Born in Vancouver, she lived for a while in Toronto, and was graduated from Toronto East General Hospital. She wrote under the pen name of June Spencer.

Although she prefers to write prose, and has sold several magazine articles, she is one of the few people to whom poetry comes easy.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Some of the constituents have been interested enough to ask what has happened to Between Times' annual snarl at the pictures of dead fish published in the papers.

The constituents point out the dead-fish-picture season is already in full flower, and, to date, no comments on the situation have been made in this space.

The reason is, I have mellowed somewhat over the years. I no longer recoil in horror when I see a picture of a dead fish, complete with glassy-eyed stare, and an even more glassy smile on the character holding the fish in front of the camera.

I have taken the matter of dead fish pictures under advisement, and I find there is justification for them.

Pictures of dead fish are published in the newspapers as proof that SOME fishermen, when they go fishing, actually fish for fish.

This profound conclusion was reached after an exhaustive series of interviews with men who leave home to go fishing.

All interviews, of course, were conducted under the veil of secrecy, for obvious reasons.

The question asked in each case was: "Do you, as a fisherman, like to see pictures of dead fish in the newspapers and if so why?"

Answer No. 1: "I like pictures of dead fish because then I can tell my wife I was fishing and just because I didn't happen to catch a fish personally it doesn't prove I wasn't fishing because somebody else caught a fish as you can see by the picture in the paper. See?"

Answer No. 2: "Pictures of dead fish in the paper, are real George. I've been fishing for 40 years, and the only dead fish I ever get to see are the ones with their pictures in the paper. See?"

Answer No. 3: "Don't tell anybody, but the only reason I go fishing is, I want to be alone. Once I took some fishing tackle with me, and a fish tried to take the lure away from me, but I got it back just in time. Goodness knows I wouldn't want a dead fish in the boat with me. But if they want to put pictures of dead fish in the paper, that's all right with me. See?"

Answer No. 4: "Of course I like pictures of dead fish. That's why I always read Between Times—there is such a lovely picture at the top left hand corner. See?"

Yes, I see. And I will no longer make nasty cracks about pictures of dead fish in the newspaper.

But I do wish the owners of these dead fish would cook them before they have their pictures taken.

Her Wings Clipped at Finish Line

Partially dismasted but still sailing, Seattle Yacht Club's Swiftsure entry Maruffa was first across the finish line at the entrance to Inner Harbor Sunday. Corrected time places her second to another Seattle yacht, Serada. Skipper John Graham of Maruffa crowded on all sail on the run home from Race Rocks, and the main stick just couldn't take the strain. (Times photo by Derek Erb.)

THRILLS IN SWIFTSURE

Driving Finish Snaps Seattle Yacht's Mast

By MONTE ROBERTS

A tremendous stretch drive with all canvas drawing in a 35-mile-an-hour gale sent the Seattle Yacht Club yawl Maruffa first over the finish line of the Swiftsure ocean race Sunday—but corrected time on a handicap basis put John Graham's entry in second place.

Skipper Graham crowded on so much canvas on the reach home that he snapped the mainmast off, about 12 feet from the top, just as Maruffa approached the Ogden Point Breakwater.

Flying in like a scalded cat, with unreelied mainsail and balloon jib drawing full, the yacht heeled sharply to starboard, sending the lee rail well under, and the towering stick couldn't stand the strain.

CANVAS FLAPPING

Graham sailed her in with the tip of the mast dangling, and canvas flapping about the deck. On corrected time, he was about 11 minutes behind Dr. C. D. Goodhope's Serada, also a Seattle Yacht Club entry, which was declared the 1955 Swiftsure winner.

Graham and Maruffa were also first across the line in 1952, but again lost on the handicap basis.

Winning time for Serada was 28 hours 36 minutes 17 seconds.

Third place went to J. W. Helms' Westward Ho!, Corinthian Yacht Club, and another Seattle yacht, the 35-foot sloop Kate II, was fourth.

DRAGON DISQUALIFIED

Neither of the two Victoria entries placed in the race. Capt. W. B. Holms' Dragon brushed the lights in making the turn at the half-way point, and was automatically disqualified. The RCN's 91-foot ketch HMCS Oriole, sailed by a crew of HMCS Venture cadets, finished the race hours back of the leader.

Both Victoria yachts tried a

'Light Brigade' To Sell Bulbs For Scout Trip

A campaign to sell 163,000 electric light bulbs to Victorians will be launched jointly by the Lions Club and the Boy Scout Association Wednesday.

The drive is being held to raise funds mainly to assist a contingent of 45 scouts to attend the Boy Scout national jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake on Aug. 19 to 28.

The objective is $8,000. Sixty per cent of the funds raised will be given to the Boy Scouts and the remaining 40 per cent will be used for Lions charitable works.

Starting June 1, Boy Scouts will sell bags containing nine light bulbs. The price will be $2 a bag.

The Lions Club has already prepared 3,000 bags this week in preparation for the campaign. Ted Estlin is chairman of the fund-raising drive which will be conducted over a period of two or three weeks.

course close to the U.S. shore outward bound on Saturday, but couldn't find enough wind to make time. Homeward bound, Oriole caught the wind she needed, but it was too late.

Leading yachts in the 1955 Swiftsure gained their top spots through skilful sail handling during extremely light winds Saturday and early Sunday morning.

CHOPPY SEAS

On the down-strait stretch Saturday, a gale-force south-westerly winds drove the yachts at a fast clip through choppy seas. All had to shorten sail, using mainsail only until they reached the turn at Race Rocks.

It was at this point Skipper Graham of Maruffa crowded on all sail in a desperate effort to finish far enough ahead to compensate for the time given away to the other yachts, and in so doing lost a portion of the mainmast.

If a complete new mast has to be stepped, cost of repairs will run close to $10,000, yachtsmen estimated today. The stub of the mast poked holes in the mainsail, and the spreaders tore the nylon jib—a new sail which cost $1,000.

As compensation for his courageous effort, Graham was first in the "AA" Class.

"A" Class winner was Serada. Totem was first in the "BB" Class.

Strait Speaking

(Patricia Russell, the 18-year-old UBC strait challenger who aims at being a journalist, continues her daily column about her training at Cadboro Bay.)

By PAT RUSSELL

Oh will west wind, Thou breath of Victoria's being, Lift me as a wave to leave this shroud;

I fall upon the thorns of life, I wait.

—Apologies to Shelley.

The unrepentant sinner was at it again Sunday afternoon. The winds came and the wrath of Heaven was upon all who planned practices in the holy waters.

And Old Man Juan de Fuca doesn't care. He absolutely refuses to mend his sinful ways. He just keeps "westling" with us, and it doesn't look as if we'll be seeing the Port Angeles harbor for another few days.

As a result, Captain Lister, Dr. Britton, our baby drinking cups, and my ear stops all piled into the little rowboat along with rowers Glenn and Johnny and coach Freddy, and we toured the magnificent shoreline of Cadboro Bay on Sunday.

This swim from Port Angeles harbor was only to be a practice. I can certainly sympathize with my predecessors in the Strait challenge who day after day saw their plans being warped and discarded by that wild west wind.

We spent Sunday morning studying hydrographic charts of the Strait. We memorized the ebbs and flows, drops and idiosyncrasies of the Victoria waters.

Tomorrow morning I think I'll apply for a job with the Island Tug & Barge Company.

Erratic Driving Brings $80 Fine

Total fine of $80 or 12 days in jail was imposed on Lloyd Arthur Earl, 118 Howe, when he pleaded guilty in city police court to charges of driving without a license and criminally negligent driving.

Police said the accused was seen driving east on Humboldt Sunday in an erratic manner. He turned to go south on Vancouver, mounted a curb, drove along a sidewalk for about 10 feet, and then came back on to the road.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall ruled he could not drive for three months.

Capacity Crowds At Church Opening

Capacity crowds attended both morning and evening services Sunday at Elk Lake Baptist Church, first held in the newly-finished building.

Rev. J. N. Clark, pastor of the new church, took the morning service, and Rev. J. E. Smith of Emmanuel Baptist Church, in the city, conducted the evening ceremony. The choir was directed by Mrs. Gwen Dobson.

Second Highway Stretch Open to Cars in 6 Weeks

Second section of the Island Highway outlet, from Thetis Lake to Goldstream, is expected to be completed and open to traffic in a month or six weeks.

Provincial government engineers said today base processing is completed on the Goldstream end of the highway outlet. Graveling is underway on the rest of the new road.

"It depends on the weather, but the road should be finished in a month or six weeks," one official said.

Traffic now breaks off to the old Island Highway before Thetis Lake cut-off, where an extensive traffic routing system is being constructed.

The six-week estimate applies only to the main road through to Goldstream.

Meanwhile, the federal works department has given the green light to a 3.81-mile stretch on the Malahat portion of the Island Highway from Halls Boat-house to the summit.

Campbell, Bennett, the contracting firm awarded the job, is now moving equipment to the Malahat from Vancouver. Work will get underway within a matter of days.

Provincial highways department officials said Malahat will remain open to traffic throughout the construction period. Delays will be announced in advance to assist motorists.

The banquet was attended by many noted figures in the aviation industry, including Grant McConachie, CPA president, and W. F. English, vice-president of TCA.

ANNUAL

Presentation of the J. B. Slesor award to Dr. Harper was made by Peter Power of the Vancouver insurance firm of J. B. Slesor Ltd. It was the first time the award was presented and is planned for annual competition.

Numerous speeches were scheduled regarding the promotion and development of civil aviation in B.C.

The council is aimed at development of airports, navigational aids and safety installations in co-operation with the federal and provincial governments.

Dr. J. B. Warren, UBC physicist, told delegates this morning domestic difficulties may ensue for pilots who embark on interplanetary expeditions in the future.

He said the first man to reach the moon may return to find his wife eight years older while he has aged only a few weeks.

"The young and beautiful secretaries will have caught up," the doctor added dryly.

Dr. Warren drew on a fund of humor to make his points. His talk was devoted to the possibilities of nuclear power in aviation and rockets.

"It is no longer a subject for the comics, nuclear rockets will reach some of the local planets in my lifetime."

GREAT SPEEDS

He envisioned speeds of 186,000 miles a second, the velocity of light. Such a speed would catch up on time and pass it. A voyage to a planet and back would be recorded on the watches and bodies of rocket crew for a few weeks. But the stodgy old earth would record the voyage as an eight year junket. Einstein could have explained it, he said.

Cigaret Blamed In Hotel Fire

Guests Evacuated In Sherwood Scare

A cigaret butt dropped in a storage closet was blamed today for a fire which forced evacuation of a city hotel early Sunday morning when flames spread through a third-floor hall of the premises.

Sherwood Hotel, 723 Yates, was completely evacuated of guests.

An unidentified man about 50 years old was overcome by smoke and had to be assisted out of the hotel.

Nobody was allowed back in their rooms on the third floor, firemen reported.

Damage was fairly extensive to the third floor. Walls were blistered and charred. Two pump trucks, one service truck and one ladder truck attended the blaze, which broke out at about 2.30 a.m.

Eight police constables and one sergeant also attended. Firemen said the fire started in a storage closet at one end of the hall.

They blamed cause of the blaze on a burning cigaret discarded in the closet, in which mattresses and other items were stored.

Weather Conditions Hurt Aviation Meet

Victoria Pilots Grounded; Full Agenda At Two-Day Conference at Empress Hotel

High week-end winds—reaching 54 miles an hour in gusts—thinned out a B.C. Aviation Council fly-past Saturday and generally depleted attendance at the group's two-day parley here.

Adverse weather conditions grounded about 50 American pilots before they could reach Patricia Bay. They were grounded at various points in the Pacific Northwest.

Only 32 planes landed at Pat Bay—16 of them from Vancouver, which took part in a predicted time flight.

DOCTOR WINS

Winner of the flight and of the J. B. Slesor trophy was Dr. Reg. Harper of New Westminster.

Although he has only been flying for a year, he was able to predict his estimated flying time within 20 seconds.

Ants Puhvel of Vancouver made the second best estimate. He was only out 26 seconds.

None of the pilots were allowed to carry a watch.

Following the Vancouver arrivals, eight planes arrived bearing members of the Sportsman's Flying Club of Oregon and six of the Skyriders' Club of Wenatchee. Four RCAF planes accompanied the Vancouver planes as they crossed the strait.

100 ATTEND

About 100 persons gathered in the Empress this morning as speeches got under way at 8.30 a.m. The schedule calls for business sessions to continue to at least 9.30 tonight.

The Sunday program included attendance at Christ Church Cathedral and a bus trip to Butchart's Gardens.

Main speaker at a banquet later was S. Ralph Cohen, public relations officer, International Air Transport Association. (See pages 5 and 24.)

Ald. W. F. Pinfold attended on behalf of the mayor and Chamber of Commerce president Stuart Keate thanked the speaker.

The banquet was attended by many noted figures in the aviation industry, including Grant McConachie, CPA president, and W. F. English, vice-president of TCA.

ANNUAL

Presentation of the J. B. Slesor award to Dr. Harper was made by Peter Power of the Vancouver insurance firm of J. B. Slesor Ltd. It was the first time the award was presented and is planned for annual competition.

Numerous speeches were scheduled regarding the promotion and development of civil aviation in B.C.

The council is aimed at development of airports, navigational aids and safety installations in co-operation with the federal and provincial governments.

Dr. J. B. Warren, UBC physicist, told delegates this morning domestic difficulties may ensue for pilots who embark on interplanetary expeditions in the future.

He said the first man to reach the moon may return to find his wife eight years older while he has aged only a few weeks.

"The young and beautiful secretaries will have caught up," the doctor added dryly.

Dr. Warren drew on a fund of humor to make his points. His talk was devoted to the possibilities of nuclear power in aviation and rockets.

"It is no longer a subject for the comics, nuclear rockets will reach some of the local planets in my lifetime."

GREAT SPEEDS

He envisioned speeds of 186,000 miles a second, the velocity of light. Such a speed would catch up on time and pass it. A voyage to a planet and back would be recorded on the watches and bodies of rocket crew for a few weeks. But the stodgy old earth would record the voyage as an eight year junket. Einstein could have explained it, he said.

Ferry Decision Expected Soon

Officials of the B.C. Coast Service of the Canadian Pacific Railway will issue a statement of policy soon on the Victoria-Port Angeles ferry situation, it was learned today.

Meanwhile a meeting to be called by the city council here is being delayed pending word from the CPR.

A CPR spokesman said officials of the company in Vancouver and Montreal were considering all aspects of the problem.

WIND HAMPERS BOAT RESCUE

B.C. Pilotage Authority's Pilot Launch, No. 1 went to the aid of a 40-foot cabin cruiser near Trial Island Sunday afternoon, and towed the small craft into the Oak Bay boathouse wharf.

The cruiser, Bonnie Dundee, owned by Lloyd Scott of Victoria, developed engine trouble and asked for aid. Despite choppy seas and high winds, launchman Doug Collis got a line aboard and towed Bonnie Dundee safely into harbor.

The doctor produced a geiger counter and a core of uranium to better acquaint his audience with the newest source of power.

Ronald S. Ritchie, division manager for B.C. for Imperial Oil Ltd., spoke on "Aviation and Oil." He called off the servant of the aircraft industry and outlined problems and advancements.

Dr. A. B. Nash, Victoria Flying Club member, told the council that municipalities should be asked to develop airports for light planes and facilities for sea planes.

Ralph Hansen explained the benefit of small aircraft to the fishing industry. Time is saved in keeping in contact with boats when radio would tip off other fleets to good fishing areas. Repair parts for fishboats are also rushed to them during short vital seasons, by air, he said.

Tourist Car Hardest Hit

Car prowlers and vandals were active over the week-end.

Largest haul was made overnight when prowlers escaped with about $300 in goods from an auto owned by A. L. Ludington, North Hollywood, California.

He told police that while his car was parked overnight at the Empress Hotel, someone had broken in and stolen a suitcase, lady's suit, coat, semi-formal dress, two pairs of slacks and another dress.

Other cars broken into over the week-end were owned by Ron Karidimis, 1030 Empress; Pete Ash, 1749 Green Oak Terrace; Perry LaRue, 1324 Johnson.

Attempt was made to enter a car owned by J. McDonald, 1161 Rockland. A spotlight was stolen from a taxi parked outside Rocky's Cafe, Douglas Street.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—When was the first traffic light put up in Victoria.—D.H.A.

A.—The lines under a two-column cut on the front page of the Daily Times Wednesday, June 26, 1935, said: "Workmen are shown in the above picture installing Victoria's first automatic traffic signal at the corner of Douglas and Johnson Streets at 8 o'clock this morning. The complete system of four signals on Douglas will be installed late this afternoon, and after a test at midnight tomorrow morning." On page 19 was a two-column cut of the stop-and-go signal at the corner of Yates and Douglas which was passing into oblivion. Constable A. H. Phipps, helmeted, was operating it while a number of citizens could be seen on the sidewalk.

Use the New Snorkel Tube For Swimming Under Water

By PENNY SAVER

Let's go swimming! Most of us have invested in a new bathing suit for this summer's fun so we're all prepared. To make swimming even more fun, I've found a little device to make underwater swimming and exploration a real adventure. It's a snorkel tube attachment that enables one to breathe under water. This particular one is a single snorkel. A plastic tube about 20 inches long has a rubber attachment on one end to be put into the mouth. The other end curves, and on that end is a rubber "cage" in which is a ping-pong ball. What for? Well, as long as the tube is out of the water, air can freely get to the swimmer. But if water should go down the tube, complications would arise. So, when water reaches the opening of the tube, the ball in the "cage" floats upward and closes the air tube, preventing water from entering. How much is this wonderful little rig? Just $1.89. All the youngsters, and adults, will get a lot of fun out of these snorkels.

You can buy underwater masks to wear, too. These are selling at $1.49, and fins are $3.98 to $4.50. For the whole set, to guarantee a whole summer's enjoyment in swimming, the cost is just $7.50.

To brighten up a last summer outfit, add a little crocheted cloche and pair of gloves to match. You can have the hats and gloves made to order in the size, color, type of thread and pattern of your choice. Whether you prefer solid colors, or silver and gold threaded articles, the price is right. Cloches, or other shaped hats, $3.50, and gloves, $2.50.

Try your hand at metal tooling with the handy copper tooling kits being sold here in town.

Do You Sneeze, Wheeze? It Might Be an Allergy

Years ago we heard little of allergies. Now it seems that about one-third of the people we know are allergic to something. As a matter of fact more than 20 million people in the United States alone are allergic.

As most of you know, being allergic means that one or more articles you come in contact with or eat, cause an unpleasant and unnatural reaction in you. This may take the form of a rash, itching skin, asthma, swollen eyes, or even pains in the stomach or irregularity in the intestinal tract.

While this condition usually is not actually painful it certainly can be uncomfortable and annoying and also damaging to an attractive physical appearance. If you periodically or chronically break out in rashes, wheeze or sneeze, have swollen or watery eyes, and a physical checkup proves that there is nothing fundamentally wrong with your health, you should suspect allergies.

In many cases one article or item of food will be discovered to be the offender. This is simple but sometimes a person is allergic to many things. Then, of course, it is more difficult to ferret out the offenders. Expert allergists will be able to help you discover what it is you are using, wearing, eating or breathing that is irritating. I did not know until a short time ago that there are trained technicians who go to the home of the allergy victim and spend a few days to observe and to try to discover what is causing the trouble. They do this after all the usual tests fail to uncover it.

Most people know about hay fever and understand that this is an allergic reaction to pollen and/or some things which grow at certain times of the year. But many folks suffer with less dramatic allergies all year long without realizing it.

Air conditioning usually is a great help to people who suffer with hay fever because it removes most of the pollen from the air.

If you have rashes, wheezes and such, suspect your cosmetics first. Nail polish and face powder seem to be top offenders. Many of the deodorants and nonperspirants are, too. Soap is another source of trouble.

Support Promised On Gorge Development

Members of the Civic Interest Group, Business and Professional Women's Club, will give their wholehearted support and assistance to further realization of a Gorge Park development scheme, Miss Ella Brett said in thanking Alderman Geoffrey Edgell for his address on the subject at a recent meeting. The talk was illustrated with aerial photographs. A question period was productive of much additional detailed information on the project which, it was pointed out, is badly needed by citizens of Victoria as well as being an added attraction for visiting tourists.

Tulle and Lace Fashion Gown Worn by Bride Wed Saturday

In a floral setting of white and yellow tulips and tall baskets of deep mauve and white lilac, Miss Valda Elizabeth Sisson became the bride of Robert Dmytro Yanow in a ceremony in St. Mary's Church, Saturday evening, Archdeacon A. E. del Nunn officiating, for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sisson, Lullie Street, and her groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dmytro Yanow, Saskatoon, Sask. The lovely bride was given in marriage by her father.

She chose a bouffant gown of white tulle and lace over layers of net and satin fashion with fitted bodice, bateau neckline and tapering lily-point sleeves. The hooped skirt which featured five flounces of pleated nylon tulle on either side was inset with panels of delicate Chantilly lace, the full back panel sweeping into a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion misted from a close-fitting headpiece of orange blossoms highlighted with sequins and pearls. A double strand of pearls, the gift of the groom, and her grandmother's blue and gold earrings were her only jewelry. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Elaine Varah, who was maid of honor for her cousin, and Miss Marilyn Kay, bridesmaid, wore "aisle-wide" dresses of nylon net over taffeta in shades of primrose yellow and aqua, respectively. Their head dresses were of matching net and flowers and they carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Kerry Lyn Alexander, cousin of the groom, was a winsome flower girl in her full-skirted frock of pink taffeta and nylon net, complemented by a garland of pastel flowers in her hair and a matching colonial bouquet.

Mr. Victor Nesdoly, of Saskatoon, stood as groomsman while guests were shown to pews marked with nosegays of white and yellow tulips, by Mr. Stanley Thomas and Mr. James Cameron.

A three-tiered wedding cake, decorated by the bride's father and imbedded in white tulle, centred the candlelit refreshment table at the reception held at 1566 Hampshire road. Mr.

Tom Kay proposed a toast to the bride and a telegram of congratulations was read from the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Lieutenant and Mrs. Don Gustafson, who are now residing in Texas.

Leaving for a honeymoon up Island, Mrs. Yanow donned a velvet duster coat over her pink dress with full crinoline skirt. Her accessories were in pink tones, and her corsage was of pink carnations.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

TUESDAY, MAY 31, 1955

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Your partners, or opponents are apt to be in belligerent mood, look to you to solve and settle pending problems. Show you are fond of them but don't engage in pitched battle with another. Postpone show-downs until next month.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—You are eager to make your surroundings much more attractive, comfortable, charming but damage, tears, rips, breaks are apt to befall your possessions unless you act in poised, calm, collected fashion. Then all's well.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Try to get your personal appearance at new radiance by treatments that have been found satisfactory in spare moments. Then use this magnetism to charm others less fortunate than you into forgetting their woes.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—You feel as though you want to smash loose in all directions, especially at home where conditions annoy you. Well, the others feel the same, so think out their views. Then you will adopt kinder, more helpful attitude. Be generous.

LEO (July 22 to August 21)—Be very careful on highway, watch out for those who carelessly injure your possessions also, sitting down and talking matters out instead of holding grudge turns potential estrangement into closer-knit accord.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22)—This is your day to take time out to look where you are financially headed. Have you sufficient abundance—and to spare—to meet your needs? If not, you now can devise better, more economical system for supply and demand.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22)—Take no chance where your vocation, prestige, credit are concerned. Be sure you see that your health is at a high level, your charm evident so others like you, your social contacts are aware of your affection for them.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21)—It's best that you accept that frustration that's been bothering you. Look directly at it today. Think out what your motives are, as well as those of anyone who is concerned, and you get to root so you can eliminate this trouble.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21)—Steer clear of that bubble-beautiful but unsubstantial—that others assure you will bring big returns. Keep your attention focused upon conscientious associate and work along to gain mutual, proven ambitions.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Highly emotional associate would plunge you into unproductive situation to ease own discontent. Instead keep your eyes riveted on your own public obligation and all works out well.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—See if you can't get some better information, data than you currently possess about expanding your work or place you plan to visit on approaching vacation. Talk out with experts rather than jumping at your own conclusions.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—This is your day to keep charming, cordial, smiling—no matter how you personally feel. Going off on tangent, spending joint assets for spree, yields only future discord, unhappiness. Be happy with simple, inexpensive pleasures. For your copy of Carroll Righter's individual 16-page Forecast for June send your birthdate and 50c to Victoria Daily Times Forecast, Box 350, Madison Square Station, N.Y. 10, N.Y.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TUESDAY
Tuesday's child is one of those very restless youngsters who has a decided "divine discontent" in his or her make-up. Do not be disturbed by this, since it will be the motivating force that can bring your progeny great worldly success and honor if allowed to unfold and develop on its own steam. Your part is to make sure that your offspring has a fine a well-rounded education as possible, since it is through ability to utilize this training that there is a successful return for all the effort your progeny will put into life.

TLC Leads Way In AFL-CIO Merger

Jodoin Certain Amalgamation Will Pass Convention Beginning Today at Windsor

WINDSOR, Ont. (BUP)—The planned merger of AFL and unions in North America occupied the spotlight today as the Trades and Labor Congress opened its 70th annual convention.

The TLC, Canadian arm of the AFL, will be the first congress on the continent to place the merger issue before an annual convention and President Claude Jodoin said he expected "little opposition" to it.

Specifically, the 1,000 delegates will be asked to approve linking the TLC's 600,000 members with the 400,000-strong Canadian Congress of Labor (CIO).

The new organization would be known as the Canadian Labor Congress and is expected to come into existence early next year. The CCL must give approval at its Toronto convention next October, however.

At a press conference on the eve of the convention, Jodoin told reporters: "I think there is little opposition as far as unity is concerned."

Other major topics to be discussed include unemployment and political action.

The congress president underlined the policy of the TLC of deal at its national conferences with national issues and to leave provincial policies to the attention of provincial labor conferences.

Federal Health Minister Paul Martin and Labor Minister Milton Gregg will speak to the delegates during the convention. William Greisinger, provincial minister of public works, will represent the Ontario government. Premier Leslie Frost and Labor Minister Charles Daley were invited but will not attend because of prior election campaign appointments.

First 'Live' Drama On Independent TV

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Kitchener's private television station—CKCO-TV—broadcast Sunday night a "live" drama from its studios here. It was the first time this has been done by an independent Canadian TV station.

A one-act play, "The Dear Departed," was performed by six Kitchener-Waterloo Little Theatre players.

Janet, 4, and Wendy, 5, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. McLung, 3841 Ascot Drive, have entered the playground made by their busdriver dad in the 1953 PTA Backyard Playground Contest. Final date for entries is Tuesday.

Framed certificates and cups will be presented to winners before June 24 school closing. This is the second year the contest has been held. It is aimed at keeping children off the streets. (Times photo by Strickland.)

Police Commissions to Discuss Joint Officer Training School

An inter-municipal police commission meeting is expected to be held next week to discuss organization of a district police school.

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele said he has suggested the idea to overcome difficulties experienced by small municipal forces in on-the-job training of officers.

"It's unfair to take a man off the street and give him a gun if he doesn't know how to use it," he said.

He added that although the chief of a small force does all he can to assist a new officer, administration and investigation duties take up most of his time.

SEEKS EXTENSION

Victoria and Saanich police have joined in periodic training classes. Reeve Wurtele's proposal is for an extension of these classes on a year-round basis with Esquimalt and Oak Bay taking part.

City and municipal representatives favored the plan. City police commissioner William Hamilton suggested that former provincial police inspector R. D. Harvey might be retained full-time as an instructor. He currently trains and tests city and Saanich officers several times a year.

1,000 Monkeys Reach Canada For 'Shots'

TORONTO (CP)—One thousand rhesus monkeys arrived by plane at suburban Malton airport today. They were the first to come to Canada directly from India.

The monkeys were destined for Connaught Laboratories at the University of Toronto where their kidneys will be used in the production of poliomyelitis vaccine.

Officials of the agriculture and health departments checked the monkeys on arrival here before the animals were taken over by laboratory officials.

The monkeys previously used in the production of the vaccine here were brought a few at a time from the United States.

The arrival at Malton completed a 7,000-mile flight from New Delhi via London, Prestwick and Goose Bay.

The monkeys, which are caught with nets in the Indian jungles, cost $35 each. They are purchased by the federal health department through the Canadian Commercial Corporation in India, a government-owned company.

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—The newspaper La Nacion said Sunday six children and three women died in Chilean hospitals Saturday because of lack of attention. A strike of 25,000 hospital and cemetery workers for higher wages began in Chile Friday.

Toronto Holdup Suspect Captured Without Fight

TORONTO (CP)—Ex-convict Arthur Aronson, wanted as a suspect in a bank robbery in which a young clerk was shot and killed, was captured Saturday night while preparing to board a plane at Toronto's Malton airport.

Police Sgt. Walter Sheehan said Aronson surrendered without a fight to plainclothes officers.

Police were staked out around the airport after receiving a tip from Hamilton that the fugitive would attempt to fly out of hiding. They said Aronson bought a ticket which would "take him out west."

No charges had been laid Saturday night.

Aronson had been Ontario's most-wanted man since May 19 when two gunmen grabbed $2,570 from a teller's cage of a branch of the Toronto-Dominion bank here.

In a wild gun battle which followed between the gangsters and the bank manager Allan J. Hannan, a 25-year-old clerk, was caught in the crossfire and shot to death. Ballistics tests showed that Hannan was hit by a bullet fired from the gun.

Labor Blames 'Party Dissensions' For Crushing Defeat in Britain

24 Victoria Daily Times MONDAY, MAY 30, 1955

GIGANTIC CLEANUP has begun at Udall, where 79 were killed when the Kansas town of 610 population was flattened by a tornado's 60 seconds of terror. Mass burials of the dead began Sunday in the community's tiny cemetery. (NEA photo.)

'SERIOUS DILEMMA'

Cheap Air Charters Worry to Airlines

Cut-rate air charter operations which siphon off normal traffic from scheduled airlines can result in poor service, higher fares or need for public subsidy, S. Ralph Cohen, executive of International Air Transport Association, said here Sunday night.

He warned delegates to B.C. Aviation Council annual conference:

"There is a good deal of pressure being exerted on governments to allow unrestricted charter operations."

Mr. Cohen, who flew here for the conference from Montreal, agreed that charter flying is cheaper.

"An operator can afford to charge less when he is assured of a 100 per cent sellout . . . but it poses a serious dilemma for the airlines and the governments, who control their international operations."

In order to assure reliable service for commerce and communication, he said, scheduled airlines must operate around the clock and around the calendar. They must maintain certain standards of quality and safety in operation and plan years ahead for expansion. Often they must maintain non-paying routes.

If present limitations are removed, charter flights will concentrate on those routes which promise a heavy traffic to the detriment of the scheduled air services, he thought.

"Is public interest on the side of satisfying the occasional traveler or the people who depend on airlines for regular, reliable service?"

He predicted: "The final result will probably be a compromise involving many considera-

U.S. Scouts At Camporee With Locals

Three patrols of United States Scouts bivouacked in a week-end camporee with Victoria Scouts over the week-end.

The youngsters did their own cooking at campfires near Todd Inlet, Elk Lake and Metehosin. Some had tents, some built their own shelters.

Various projects involving signalling, mapping and compass work were undertaken.

Church services were held at the camps Sunday, with Rev. Norman Lowe attending the Todd Inlet camp. A complete inspection of all camps was carried out by district commissioner George Barr and assistant commissioner Martin Dawson.

False Teeth Need A Special Cleanser

Don't Brush Your Plates! Soak Them in Polident As Dentists Suggest

Polident is the recommended way to clean dentures, brush Denture Breath. Just follow these easy rules:

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.

3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only . . . Polident! Polident cleanser is recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates. Polident gets where a brush can't reach.

LONDON (Reuters) — Labor party members, whose squabbles may well have cost them the general election last week, continued to argue Sunday about what comes next for their party.

The patch that was hastily applied to the intra-party rupture at the start of the election campaign tore looser, as party personalities surveyed their serious setback at the polls in articles for Sunday newspapers.

From the right-wing, Woodrow Wyatt blamed Aneurin Bevan, while one of the Welsh left-wingers' chief followers, Tom Driberg, argued that the result could actually do the party good by stimulating it to re-plot its course toward the left.

Since the extent of the Conservative victory became apparent Friday, several of the party's leaders have acknowledged that "party dissensions" were an important factor.

Wyatt, writing in the Sunday Express, was the first to blame Bevan by name.

"The fiery Welshman was worth 'a million votes' to the Conservatives," Wyatt said. Under the headline "I Accuse Bevan," he asserted that the Labor party was "too busy quarreling" to win the election.

He charges that the Bevanites had attacked the party's moderate leadership, under Clement Attlee, as "no good" and that they had smeared the chiefs of the trade union movement—the backbone of the party.

Driberg maintained that defeat "will do us good" if it is made the cue for an "agonizing reappraisal of basic policy."

Peiping Frees 4 U.S. Airmen

Release of Fliers Brings Hope
11 Others Will Gain Freedom

(From AP and UP Dispatches)

TOKYO—Peiping radio said tonight a military tribunal of the Supreme Court had tried four American airmen and sentenced them to "immediate deportation."

LONG WAIT OVER

Families 'Thank God' Fliers Free

(From AP and UP)

"Thank God, I can hardly believe it. You don't know what this means."

Those were the words W. G. (Bud) Parks spoke in Omaha today when notified of the announcement in New Delhi that four American fliers would be released by the Chinese Reds.

His son, Lieut. Roland W. Parks, has been held by the Reds for two years, 8½ months.

Asked what his wife was doing, Parks replied: "She's sitting here. She's just saying her prayers. I'm so excited I don't know what to do. Roland's brother, Dick, is sitting here, too. He can hardly believe it."

Roland Cameron, father of Lt. Lyle Cameron, said at Lincoln, Neb., "We have a deep feeling of gratefulness" when told his son had been released by the Chinese Communists. "It's a wonderful thing when you have waited so long," he added. Cameron sat up answering telephone calls all night.

Mrs. Harold Fischer of Swea City, Iowa, said news of her son's release from captivity in Communist China is "The most wonderful news we've ever received."

The mother of Capt. Harold Fischer added "we've waited a long time for this."

Mrs. Edwin L. Heller, wife of one of the four fliers scheduled to be released by the Red Chinese, said today her thoughts were with the families of other imprisoned Americans.

A member of the family at Wynnewood, Pa., quoted her as saying when informed of the good news: "What can I say. I don't know what to say. I only hope that the other men get out. Just imagine how other families feel when only four men are released."

ST. HUBERT, Que. (CP) — "This is the day I've been waiting for," Sgt. Ldr. A. R. Andy Mackenzie of Montreal said today when told that four United States airmen imprisoned with him by the Chinese Reds are to be released.

The squadron leader, now based at the St. Hubert field near Montreal, said he expects the four, held with him at Mukden, "probably will be handed over in Hong Kong—the place where Mackenzie was turned free by the Communists last fall."

Bill Vukovich Dies in Speedway Crash

SWEIKERT WINS AT INDIANAPOLIS

5-Car Pyre Kills Vukovich In Memorial Day Classic

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP) — Bob Sweikert, who never before was in the money, roared to victory in his salmon-pink car today in the 39th renewal of the annual 500-mile speedway race.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP) — Bill Vukovich, winner of the 500-mile race for the past two years, was burned to death in a five-car pileup on the back stretch in today's race.

Other cars involved in the accident were driven by Ed Kinsman, Rodger Ward, Johnny Boyd and Al Keller.

Vukovich was leading the race at a record speed when the accident occurred after 140 miles.

At the end of 300 miles Bob Sweikert was leading with Art Cross second.

Spectators reported that Vukovich's car also turned over and burned in mid-track. Attendees were unable to get through the flames to turn the car over and pull him out.

WORST SINCE 1939

It was the worst pileup since 1939 when another former winner, Floyd Roberts, was killed in a three-car crash on the southeast turn, hardly 500 yards from today's accident.

The death was the first during the 500-mile race since 1947 when Shortly Canton was killed as his car hit a wall on the southwest turn.

A report from the speedway hospital said Keller was unhurt, Boyd and Ward had minor injuries but were not kept in the hospital, and Ellisian was not hurt was kept in the hospital because somebody gave him a "shot" of morphine en route to the hospital.

Two men in a safety patrol jeep were injured when one of the cars leaped a wall into the infield in the five-car pileup.

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS KILL 350 IN U.S.

From UP and AP

CHICAGO—Hopes for a safe and sane Memorial Day week-end appeared lost today as fatal traffic accidents rose steadily towards an expected 360 deaths by midnight tonight.

Since 6 p.m. Friday the record showed more than 350 fatal holiday accidents of various sorts.

A National Safety Council remarked: "The holiday traffic toll is proceeding tragically and needlessly on schedule."

The council had predicted traffic accidents would kill 360 persons during the 78-hour period.

Reds Ready to Negotiate Status of Formosa—Menon

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—V. K. Krishna Menon said today Red China would be willing to negotiate the Formosa issue with the Nationalists—but only on an "internal basis."

Prime Minister Nehru's top foreign policy adviser, just returned from a trip to Peiping, made the statement at the press conference at which he announced the Chinese would release four American airmen captured during the Korean war.

The Indian diplomat did not explain what he meant by an internal basis for negotiation between the two Chinese governments.

Menon declined to specify whether the Reds would meet the Nationalists in the presence of the United States. He said the Americans and Red Chinese were the main parties in the dispute and it was up to them to "say who were the others involved."

Threats Linked To West Coast Tree Licence

Campaign Alleged 'Sign-or No Road'

Hired "contact men" threatened residents of the West Coast they would not get access roads unless they supported the B.C. Forest Products forest management licence, it was charged today.

Gordon Gibson, former Liberal MLA, was speaking before the Sloan Commission on forestry.

He told the commission the "contact men" carried printed forms, and got people to sign them by "threatening them" with unemployment, loss of a $25,000 pulp mill, and loss of access roads.

PRICE TO GREAT
Mr. Gibson said the people of the Island were told: "Agree with this, or you won't get roads."

He said BCFP proposed road-building "is not a lot of kindness coming out of their heart—they are doing it because they are getting a forest management licence."

Mr. Gibson said the promise of West Coast roads "was the sole reason the people didn't get up in arms." He called the logging company road proposal "a kind of payoff" for a forest management licence.

F. C. Munroe, counsel for BCFP, tried to get Mr. Gibson to agree that the licence will stabilize the employment of BCFP's present workers, create more jobs, and that such enterprises as their proposed $25,000,000 pulp mill at Crofton should be encouraged.

'AGREE-OR'

Mr. Gibson said such investment capital shouldn't be encouraged if it was to be at the cost of "the little man."

It is too great a price for anything," he said.

Mr. Gibson said the firm couldn't create new jobs in the timber industry. He said they could "only take men who are now working in other jobs," for other timber firms.

"Isn't there a limit to the amount of timber this company wants?" the long-time foe of the forest management licence system asked at one point during the morning sitting of the commission.

Commenting on the "stabilization of employment" argument advanced by the BCFP counsel, Gibson said "You could go straight into socialism, put it all under one head—the 'would ensure a steady job if that's what you want.'"

B.C. Forest Products is throwing in nothing, and the people of B.C. are throwing in the timber," Mr. Gibson said, when he was asked if he stood by his statement that timber in a forest licence is "given away."

"And there is no other part of the world where you can get it in perpetuity."

Eden Considers Drastic Steps In Rail Strike

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Anthony Eden's government today was reported considering the declaration of a state of emergency, to cope with the nation's crippling railway strike.

Informed sources said a request for a royal proclamation appeared "likely" if the chaos that is feared develops this week.

The proclamation, if issued, would grant Eden emergency powers to deal with the walkout.

(UP and AP Dispatches)

LONDON—A strike by 70,000 railroad men today threatened Britain with a return to wartime austerity.

The walkout by members of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen started at midnight Saturday in a demand for premium pay. The strike was considered the worst industrial dispute in Britain in a quarter century.

Soldiers were called out to move the mail. Highways were lined with stranded holiday-makers hitch-hiking their way home after the striking railwaymen defied a back-to-work appeal by Prime Minister Eden.

The gravest industrial crisis since the general strike of 1926 confronted the nation with chaos as a walkout of 70,000 locomotive engineers and firemen brought rail service almost to a standstill.

With the long Whitsun holiday week-end nearing an end, the full impact of the strike began to be felt—an impact threatening unemployment in factories counting on rail shipments for supplies.

Meanwhile, a wildcat dock strike continued to plague the government, tying up 196 ships in four big British ports. The 18,000 members of the National Amalgamated Stevedores and Dockers Union have defied their own leaders and refuse to return to work in a jurisdictional squabble with the bigger Transport and General Workers Union. The latter has 80,000 members.

'Country Will Break Before We Do'
A leader of the striking railwaymen declared defiantly: "The country will break before we break."

London's vast railroad stations looked like ghost-haunted halls. Skeleton train services was maintained on some regional lines, but the timetable was forgotten.

Eden was being kept informed of developments from Chequers, his official country home. He sent his labor minister, Sir Walter Monckton, back to London after consultations but there was no immediate new peace moves in the making.

Jim Baty, general secretary of the striking Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, said: "We are still not adverse to an honorable settlement, of course."

A post office spokesman said trucks, with soldiers driving, would carry the mail to larger cities and other distributing centres to keep this phase of the country's business life moving as near normal as possible.

Back-to-Work Call Flatly Rejected
Eden's call in an emergency Sunday broadcast got a flat rejection from Albert Hallworth, assistant general secretary of ASLEF, who declared:

"We can and will hold out for at least three months. Eden in his broadcast asserted his Conservative government, rejected to another five-year term last week, will 'do all we can to protect the nation from the worst effects of this strike.'"

CHAOS CAUSED
The men quit Saturday midnight—in the first big rail walkout since the general strike of 1926—to back up demands for pay boosts giving a larger differential over other train workers.

Emergency Food Stockpiles Set Up
Eden's government announced it had taken emergency steps to ensure food supplies and sufficient fuel for the public services. But authorities urged the public to conserve fuel, light and power, to use available transport as little as possible, and to use postal, telephone and telegraph services sparingly.

The government said ample food stocks are available throughout the country, explaining that most foods are transported by road. Plans also have been made to move essential foods usually carried by rail—such as milk for London.

The government warned that despite these precautions, it might have to impose severe restrictions on use of gas and electricity.

The government postal service said it would be able to accept only parcels for local delivery. The armed forces were asked to provide 250 trucks to carry mails.

As yet, the government apparently has made no move for a general callout of troops, as was done in 1926.

London's nationally distributed newspapers, cut the number of their pages by one-third to lighten editions for delivery.

ASLEF is demanding a raise of eight shillings a week over the present weekly basic pay of nine pounds, 15 shillings.

Eden said if the locomotive men got more money the railways could be confronted with an "endless succession" of pay raise demands by the rival NUR.

SOBBING CHILD 'SEES' HER IDOL

'Look the World in the Face' Helen Keller Tells Blind Girl

TOKYO (AP)—Gentle hands reached out to touch the face of the tiny five-year-old girl.

The child bowed her head. "Never bend your head," came the soft advice, "always hold it high. Look the world straight in the face."

Two of the world's blind had met in understanding—Helen Keller, who has spent all but 18 months of her 75 years in darkness, and Dorothy Ann Ciccoli, blind since birth.

Ever since Dorothy Ann was old enough to understand, her mother has held up Miss Keller as an ideal, mixing chapters from the life of the world famous deaf and blind lecturer-writer with fairy tales and Sunday school lessons.

Sunday Mrs. Ciccoli, wife of an army major from Battle Creek, Mich., took her daughter to a reception tea.

Unable to get through the crowd of 500, Mrs. Ciccoli started describing Miss Keller to the child.

"But mother," she sobbed softly, "I want to see Miss Keller."

Ivy G. Edmonds, 29, a reporter for the United States Army Stars and Stripes, heard the child. "After working his way through to Miss Keller's life-long companion, Miss Polly Thompson, he whispered the child's wish."

Miss Keller insisted the crowd make room for the little girl. Then she bent forward and gently touched the child's face.

The little girl reached upward, hesitated, then traced the worn, lined face with her fingertips. A brilliant smile replaced the tears.

The huge room, now silent, heard her whisper: "Mother, I saw her. I saw Helen Keller."

Seems y' git further in Britain these days runnin' fer Parliament than fer trains.

Pity them Strait swimmers can't carry sail, like th' Swiftsure tellers.

Fliers' Release Spurs Hope For 11 Others Held

Would Eliminate Tension Cause

(AP and UP Dispatches)

TOKYO — Peiping radio said tonight a military tribunal of the Supreme Court had tried four American airmen and sentenced them to "immediate deportation."

The trial was held May 24. A Chinese language broadcast gave no details.

Peiping charged that the four "committed such criminal actions as flying their military aircraft into China's territorial air to conduct harassment and provocation."

"Their crimes endangered the security of China and the peaceful life of the Chinese people," the broadcast continued.

The charges have long since been denied by the U.S. State department.

The broadcast identified them as Capt. Harold F. Fischer Jr., Lieut. Lyle W. Cameron, Lt. Col. Edwin L. Heller and Lieut. Roland W. Parks.

They are four American pilots shot down over North Korea during the Korean war.

Eleven other U.S. airmen are held in China. The 11 were given sentences up to 20 years.

The Red radio announcement did not say when and where the fliers would be returned. Most speculation has centred on Hong Kong or Panmunjom, Korea.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The state department said today it hopes the release of four American fliers by the Chinese Communists signifies the Reds intend to act swiftly in releasing other American prisoners.

"Such action on the part of the Chinese Communist regime," the department said, "would eliminate one cause of international tension."

It said "the U.S. government is gratified that the prolonged and unwarranted separation which these airmen and their families have endured with such great patience and fortitude will soon be brought to an end."

Britain May Declare State of Emergency

Eden Considers Drastic Step in Britain's Crippling Rail Strike; 70,000 Quit Jobs

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Anthony Eden's government today was reported considering the declaration of a state of emergency, to cope with the nation's crippling railway strike.

Informed sources said a request for a royal proclamation appeared "likely" if the chaos that is feared develops this week.

The proclamation, if issued, would grant Eden emergency powers to deal with the walkout.

(UP and AP Dispatches)

LONDON—A strike by 70,000 railroad men today threatened Britain with a return to wartime austerity.

The walkout by members of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen started at midnight Saturday in a demand for premium pay. The strike was considered the worst industrial dispute in Britain in a quarter century.

Soldiers were called out to move the mail. Highways were lined with stranded holiday makers hitch-hiking their way home after the striking railwaymen defied a back-to-work appeal by Prime Minister Eden.

The gravest industrial crisis since the general strike of 1926 confronted the nation with chaos as a walkout of 70,000 locomotive engineers and firemen brought rail service almost to a standstill. With the long Whitson holiday week-end nearing an end, the full impact of the strike began to be felt—an impact threatening unemployment in factories counting on rail shipments for supplies.

Meanwhile, a wildcat dock strike continued to plague the government, tying up 196 ships in four big British ports. The 18,000 members of the National Amalgamated Stevedores and Dockers Union have defied their own leaders and refuse to return to work in a jurisdictional squabble with the bigger Transport and General Workers Union. The latter has 80,000 members.

A leader of the striking railwaymen declared defiantly: "The country will break before we break."

London's vast railroad stations looked like ghost-haunted halls. Skeleton train services was maintained on some regional lines, but the timetable was forgotten.

Eden was being kept informed of developments from Chequers, his official country home. He sent his labor minister, Sir Walter Monckton, back to London after consultations but there was no im-

19 of 33 Starters Forced Out of Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Big Bob Sweikert, a Call-fornian turned Hoosier, sped the John Zink Special to victory today in an accident-plagued 500-mile auto race in which former winner Bill Vukovich was killed.

The 28-year-old winner had never gone the full 500 miles in three previous races.

Sweikert has been racing since 1947. He got into the contention only after a five-car accident killed Vukovich and engine trouble eliminated Jack McGrath, the fastest qualifier in the race.

He rode his pink Kurtis-Kraft racer to victory after a tight race with Don Freeland and Art Cross, both of whom went out with engine trouble.

VUKOVICH HAD LEAD

Vukovich was roaring out in front and had led for 50 of the 56 laps he had run when he slammed into a pile-up of slower cars on the back stretch. He swerved to miss the car of Rodger Ward and went end over end five times over the barrier. His shattered racer, upside down, caught fire and he was trapped underneath.

The farthest Sweikert had gone in the 500 was 197 laps last year, when he finished 14th.

Sweikert's winning speed was 128.209 miles an hour in 3 hours 53 minutes 59.53 seconds. The record by Vukovich last year was 130.840.

Jimmy Bryan, 1953 AAA racing champion, had taken over the lead after McGrath and Vukovich went out. But then Bryan went out of the race, too.
